Largest Bank Shortage in History Revealed

FLINT, MICHIGAN, AUDIT BRINGS OUT $3,592,000 LOSS

Ten Junior Officers and Employees Charged With Systematic Embezzlement of Huge Sum.

$2,500,000 PUT UP BY PRESIDENT

Action Will Prevent Loss to Depositors, State Examiners Say—Prosecutions To Begin.

Flint, Mich., November 11.—(AP)—More than $3,000,000, said to be the largest embezzlement from a single bank in American banking history, was the sum taken by ten or more employees and junior executives of the Union Industrial Bank of Flint for their speculations in the stock market, it was revealed in an official statement issued today. An audit of the shortage has been under way for some time.

The gross theft is set at $3,592,000 but the net loss is estimated in the neighborhood of $2,000,000, which in turn is expected to be cut down by payments on certain insurance policies held by the bank.

To forestall any possibility of loss to the bank as a result of the thefts, Charles S. Mott, president of the bank and vice president of General Motors Corporation, has turned over more than $1,500,000 of his personal funds. He previously had put up approximately $1,000,000 in cash.

Steps to prosecute the employees involved may be taken soon, it was indicated in the statement. Officials of the Flint bank and of Detroit banking houses with which it is affiliated conferred with Rudolph E. Reichert, state banking commissioner; Prosecuting Attorney Charles D. Beagle of Genesee county, and a representative of the attorney-general's office. It was announced "that all were satisfied that everything possible was being done to expedite matters so that the prosecution may be instituted at the earliest moment."

Mr. Mott resumed the active presidency of the bank soon after the shortage was revealed.

State banking officials and local authorities as well as officers of the bank have expressed themselves as satisfied that the interests of the public have been thoroughly safeguarded.

U. S. PREDOMINANT IN AIR, YOUNG SAYS

America Far Ahead of Europe, Head of Aeronautics Branch Asserts At Driving Club Dinner.

America's predominance in the air is recognized, and acknowledged by Europe, Major Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, stated Monday night at a dinner given in his honor by Leo C. Wilson, supervising inspector in this district for the department of commerce, aeronautics branch, at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Commenting upon a general impression prevalent in this country that continental air lines are more widespread and that these transport routes have kept Europe far ahead of the United States, Major Young cited the experiences of foreign transport executives who have visited this country to "learn from America."

"In Europe, there is no night flying," Major Young said, "while in this country, we have pioneered in a 24-hour schedule of flying which amazes those European operators. On every occasion when European operators visit America, we arrange for a night flight over a scheduled air line, as that is one of the first things they ask about. They are ready to acknowledge that we have taken to air transportation in a way which has not been attempted as yet on the continent."

In commenting on how the department of commerce operates under the air commerce act passed by congress, Major Young told his listeners that the department, in checking up on airlines, is concerned only on learning the causes, so that they may not contribute to similar accidents in the future.

"We do not and will not, as long as I am director of aeronautics," he said, "give out a statement of blame. That was not the reason for the air commerce act. We are desirous of getting all data possible on why the accident occurred, so that the causes contributory to the crash may be eliminated. We are not interested in blame or attaching of blame to anyone."

Feminine Mob Attacks Officers Guarding Woman as She Points Out Tiny Graves.

Camden, N. J., November 11.—(AP)—Gladys May Parks, charged with killing one child and suspected of slaying another, today heard threats of "lynch her" shouted by a group of women as she reenacted for authorities how she buried the two children in isolated spots in the woods near National Park, N. J.

Miss Parks was startled when the women, who made up a crowd of 1,000 at National Park, six miles south of here, surrounded the police automobile and shouted threats against her.

"Give her what she gave those poor children," one cried. Another with a bunch of flowers in her hand, shouted "kill her and I'll put these on her."

The accused woman was well protected by policemen and detectives and was never in serious danger of harm from the crowd.

Sticks to Story.

Tonight Miss Parks again was in the Camden county jail, tired from her automobile journey across the state and back again, but still holding to her story that Dorothy Rogers, 4, and her brother, Timothy, 2, came to their deaths by accident.

The police frankly declared they did not believe her story but have found no motive with which to confront her to break down her statement.

Miss Parks, who had been sought by the police for a week for questioning in connection with the finding of the skeleton of a child in the woods at National Park on November 2, walked into the Newark police headquarters early Sunday morning and after making her identity known was placed under arrest and confessed she had buried the body of the girl at Absecon, near Atlantic City, both last August. The boy's skeleton was found yesterday.

Claims Accident.

The woman told the police the little girl died following a beating. She said she had no intention of seriously harming the child. The boy died, she said, after an accident. She told the police she had buried the bodies in the woods near National Park. She then walked about twenty-five feet into the woods, stopping occasionally as though a little uncertain of her bearings. Finally she stopped at a point where there was a mass of autumn leaves and pointed to a hole. "There it is," she said simply.

Disillusioned Girl Leaps From Plane

Hired for Suicide

New York, November 11.—(United News)—The grand gesture which a futile life had failed to provide was found in death late today by a young woman who leaped from the cabin of a passenger plane while it was flying at 2,000 feet altitude near Curtis Airport, L. I.

The girl, tentatively identified as Ruth Rockwell of Crestwood, N. Y., from papers in her possession, left behind in the cabin of the plane an undressed note of farewell in which she expressed the desire to explore the uncertainties beyond life rather than to continue a useless existence.

"I want to fly and fly high," was her instruction to Pilot Edward Booth as she paid $5 for a ticket and stepped into his plane at the field.

Booth nodded the plane upward to an altitude of 1,500 feet and turned to see if his passenger was satisfied. She signified that he should go higher.

At 2,000 feet Booth felt the plane lurch slightly as if it had hit an invisible object. It had been placed in the door to the passenger cabin open and to catch a glimpse of the girl's body hanging through space 50 feet below.

The body was found about a mile from the airport.

In the cabin of the plane was the note which told the story of a disillusioned girl. It had been placed in a stamped, unaddressed envelope and at the top sheet of the first page was the following name and address: "Ruth Rockwell, 22 Avenue Road, Brooks Farm, Crestwood, N. Y."

There was no salutation. It read as follows: "Most people and their lives because something sad has happened to them. I end mine because it seems not only futile, but wrong to go on existing. I have no one and feel that I have no enemies. I will probably be considered insane, as anyone taking his life is supposed to be slightly insane. I am wondering if I will find time to think of the past as I whirl through space, as it is said a drowning man does when he is struggling in the water. I am wondering if I will find anything in death. If so, what? "Everything has always been disconcerting when I long for harmony. Maybe yet I will find it, maybe sweet music. "If I find any sort of life or corresponding time after death, I will try to communicate with my immediate relatives at 9 o'clock some evening for a while. During my lifetime I think my one fault was deception. I have lied repeatedly about small things but I am sure I will find that these small things were. "I have no guilty conscience whatsoever, I am sure. The note, unsigned, ended on this last, self-justifying sentence.

Much of Preliminary Work of Conference Session To Be Disposed of at Committee Meetings.

Since the North Georgia annual conference is to meet here Wednesday, much of the preliminary work of the conference session will be disposed of today in the pre-conference meetings of numerous boards and committees.

Many of the churches reached the city late Monday afternoon, while others by the hundreds will arrive this morning. The Atlanta First Methodist church will be host to the conference.

Early Morning Derailement of Southern Passenger Probably Caused by Falling Beam.

Oakdale, Tenn., November 11.—Reports from hospitals late Tuesday night, in which the injured passengers were being treated, stated that the casualty list of the Ponce de Leon wreck would be confined to the three dead trainmen and Marion Bradshaw, of St. Augustine, Fla. Derailement of the northbound passenger Ponce de Leon, of the Southern railway, near here early today caused the death of the four and injuries to more than fifty passengers.

Three of the dead were trainmen. Numbered among them was the engineer, W. A. Eisman, of Chattanooga, who had taken over the throttle to-day temporarily, in the place of W. A. Williams, of Chattanooga, the regular engineer. Eisman was buried beneath the wrecked engine.

Ed Grant, fireman, of Rising Fawn, Ga.; V. L. Winstead, mail clerk, of Nebo, Ky.; and Marion Bradshaw, St. Augustine, Fla., were the others killed.

Nearly all of the injured passengers were from Ohio and Michigan. They were among the number of persons from those sections who had been in Chattanooga and Lookout Mountain on a week-end excursion and were returning home in day coaches which had been attached to the regular northbound passenger train for Cincinnati.

Wreck On Curve.

The wreck took place at 12:20 o'clock this morning on a curve 28 miles north of here and 25 miles south of the Kentucky state line. The engine, commutation baggage and express car, four day coaches and three Pullmans left the rails.

Special trains from Somerset, Ky., and Chattanooga, Tenn., took the injured passengers to those cities. Thirty three were in the Chattanooga train. Every ambulance in the city was pressed into service in removing the rescued to hospitals.

Of the injured passengers taken to Chattanooga, 26 were white persons and seven negroes.

Traffic on the line moved without delay. The line is double-tracked at the scene of the wreck and northbound and southbound trains used the regular southbound line which had not been affected.

Cause Unknown.

L. H. Woodall, division superintendent of the Southern, said the wreckage could not be cleared completely before tomorrow. The engine was buried at least 100 feet and half buried in the embankment.

Mr. Woodall said the wreck "was not caused by either speed or a faulty track," but said the theory of some obstacle trailing from a coach would be thoroughly investigated.

The engine pulling the 13 coaches of the train was one of the newest in the Southern service. Ten of the cars piled up in a mass of wreckage from 50 to 100 yards from where the engine ran over a 20-foot embankment and buried itself in a pond of mud. A mail car reversed itself and landed upright on top of the engine, and three Pullman cars ran up the track about 50 yards and turned over without going down the embankment. One of the day coaches crashed across the parallel track.

Track Torn Up.

The body of Engineer Eisman was buried in the wreckage. He was not detected for some time, the exposed head finally being observed. Fireman Grant was found near the engine still alive, but he died before being placed on the relief train. The body of Mail Clerk Winstead was removed from the mail car with an acetylene torch. Bradshaw's body was found about 60 feet from the wreckage.

WILL CUT NAVY DOWN TO BONE

Speech Brings Quick Applause From Europe; Preparedness for Peace Urged by President.

BY LAWRENCE SULLIVAN, United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, November 11.—(United News)—Striking boldly to the core of the age-old problem of freedom of the seas, President Hoover in his armistice speech tonight advanced for consideration of the world a proposal that food ships, whether bound to neutral or belligerent ports, should be free of any interference in time of war.

"The time has come when we should remove starvation of women and children from the weapons of warfare," the president said, harking back to the dark days when he directed the feeding of war-ridden mothers and children in Belgium.

No Navy Cut Too Big.

This was the high note in the president's speech, delivered at American Legion ceremonies commemorating the 11th anniversary of signing of the armistice. He also called upon his countrymen to blaze a trail for "preparedness for peace," expressed confidence that the five-power naval conference in January would be successful, and said that no reduction agreed upon at that conference would be "too low for us."

The president explained that his suggestion about food ships was not a governmental proposition, and is not advanced as a subject for the London conference. It was made in connection with freedom of the seas, and the president's intention in discussing this general problem was that it would not be a part of the conference, as has been proposed.

He revealed that he considers the freedom-of-the-seas problem as lending itself readily to solution once machinery has been perfected for peaceful settlement of international difficulties.

Trading Rights Inalienable.

"In reality in our day it is simply the rights of private citizens to trade in time of war, for there is today complete freedom of the seas in time of peace," he declared.

"If the world succeeds in establishing peaceful methods of settlement of controversies, the whole question of trading rights in time of war becomes a purely academic discussion. Peace is its final solution."

The suggestion about food ships was brought forward by the president Continued on Page 9, Column 5.

CANADIAN MINISTER PASSES AT TORONTO

Head of Finance Dies After Long Career With Dominion.

Toronto, Ont., November 11.—(AP) J. A. Robb, Canada's minister of finance, died here today. He was 70 years old.

Born near Huntington, Que., August 10, 1859, Robb knew the rigors of frontier life. He was educated at the district school and later at Huntington academy.

In 1908 Robb was elected to the commons by the constituency of Huntington. He was returned to the house of commons at all of the following six general elections.

After the wartime election in 1917, Mr. Robb was elected chief opposition whip for the liberal party. His success at this post led Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King to take him into the newly formed liberal government of 1921 as minister of trade and commerce. Thus cabinet rank came after 13 years in parliament as a private member.

In 1925 came the step in his career which was to make the name of Robb known throughout Canada. Named minister of finance, he commenced a series of documents which became known popularly as the "Robb budgets." The most notable of these was perhaps the budget of 1926, which made sweeping reductions in the income tax, reductions in the duties on automobiles and a large cut in the sales tax.

Robb rose to this station in Canada from a humble beginning. In his teens he learned the milling business. At 20, upon the death of his uncle, he succeeded him as president of a mill in Valleyfield.

Opposing the operation of his business on the public highways, F. D. Hewitt, district attorney of the 14th judicial circuit, today stated that he filed suit in chancery court against the Capitol Stages, Inc., and the Pickwick-Greyhound Lines seeking an injunction to stop the buses from using the highways of Pike county.

The suit seeks recovery of $3,000 for damages to the roads.

"The Illinois Central has fourteen passenger trains each day making it unnecessary for the traveling public to use the buses," Mr. Hewitt said. "The highways are built for the service of the people and not for public service corporations operating for hire."

McComb, Miss., November 11.—(AP) Opposing the operation of his business on the public highways, F. D. Hewitt, district attorney of the 14th judicial circuit, today stated that he filed suit in chancery court against the Capitol Stages, Inc., and the Pickwick-Greyhound Lines seeking an injunction to stop the buses from using the highways of Pike county.

The suit seeks recovery of $3,000 for damages to the roads.

"The Illinois Central has fourteen passenger trains each day making it unnecessary for the traveling public to use the buses," Mr. Hewitt said. "The highways are built for the service of the people and not for public service corporations operating for hire."

McComb, Miss., November 11.—(AP) Jack Arnold, a transport pilot, and E. H. Ellis, a student flier, and E. T. McGhee, also a transport pilot, were killed today when an airplane they were flying to Marshall from Kansas City crashed about three miles west of this city. All of the fliers were from Kansas City.

Arnold and Ellis were dead when taken from the wreckage. McGhee died after being removed to a hospital.

McGhee was believed to have been piloting the plane. Airmen here expressed the opinion that the dual controls were jammed unintentionally by the other two men in the front cockpit. After he was removed from the wrecked ship McGhee mumbled "turn loose, turn loose," strengthening this theory of the cause of the crash.

Arnold and Ellis were flying here to return a new airplane to Kansas City.

Before the crash the ship flew over the Marshall airport, then banked sharply for a turn into the wind so that a landing could be made.

Berlin, November 11.—(United News.)—Former Kaiser Wilhelm began a libel suit today against the Berlin newspaper Morgen Post, which had accused him of unduly favoring the Krupp factory in granting munitions contracts during the World War.

The paper charged the kaiser was materially interested in the Krupp concern and that because of his influence the company enjoyed a virtual monopoly in providing guns and munitions to the imperial army.

The Morgen Post described the kaiser's alleged pool in the Krupp concern as "the greatest scandal in world history."

Savannah, Fla., November 11.—(AP) Oscar G. Crawford, 57-year-old carpenter of Savannah, Ga., killed by a blow on the head sometime Friday night and found on the outskirts of town 24 hours later, came to his death "by a blunt instrument in the hands of persons unknown." That was the verdict of the coroner's jury delivered today.

Meanwhile Dot Black, a pretty brunette who sang and danced in a night club, taken into custody in connection with the case, told police that she drove Crawford and Raymond Mathews, in the latter's car to a point where the body was found. Mathews, a barber, also is held in the case. Miss Black said the two men got out of the car, went to the rear and remained for several minutes. Mathews returned alone, got into the machine and they drove away. Neither spoke of their companion, according to the woman who says she is Mathews' wife.

Robber Is Dead Of Bullet Wound Under Heart

Champaign, Ill., November 11.—(AP) Chief of Police A. U. Keller today announced that Harold Smith, one of the bandits who held up sixty guests at the home of Henry M. Harris Saturday night, had weakened under questioning and said there were five men in the game which secured $8,657 in money and jewels.

C. W. Katchman, Mattoon, Ill., arrested with Smith, died today from wounds inflicted by Patrolman Brown who arrested him. Patrolman Davis, who answered the call for police with Brown, suffered a flesh wound in an exchange of shot with the robbers. Three members of the gang escaped.

The gang invaded the Harris mansion, one of the show places of this city, during the height of a celebration following the Army-Illinois football game Saturday.

POINCARÉ PLANS RETURN TO WORK AFTER RECOVERY

Paris, November 11.—(AP)—Former Premier Raymond Poincaré, practically recovered from two prostatectomies, will leave Paris for the Riviera on November 20 and spend the entire winter in convalescing at a Cap Martin villa placed at his disposal by a wealthy friend. The man, who is generally considered to have saved France a hundred billion francs by his financial genius told a personal friend that he would continue to work during the winter, saying "I could not afford to remain idle."

GROUP TO IMPROVE BRITISH-AMERICAN RELATIONS FORMED

New York, November 11.—(AP)—Formation of an Anglo-American vigilance committee "to combat malicious propaganda" against British-American relations was announced here today by Alfred C. Bosson, of London, philanthropist, international architect and head of the committee. Its purpose is to call attention to and correct "any inaccurate statement which would be harmful to existing amicable relations" appearing in the press or magazines of either country. It will also give a substantial annual award for the best article, short story or news dispatch appearing in both the United States and England.

Both the United States and England are strong enough to stand the truth," Mr. Bosson said today. "The very satisfactory conditions that exist between the two countries must not, through inadvertence, be allowed to go backwards."

Twelve Americans functioning in the United States and twelve British citizens in England will form the committee. Members of the committee will be announced after December 1.

FACILITIES AT PORTS IN SOUTH ADEQUATE

I. C. C. Investigation Also Shows Charges on Imports Are Not Burden.

Washington, November 11.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission held today that rail-water terminal facilities at Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico ports were adequate and denied that charges on import, export, coastal and intercoastal traffic imposed a burden on other freight hauled by the roads.

Ending a lengthy, self-instituted investigation the commission also held that prescription of a tariff rule requiring separate statements of accessory or terminal charges from the rates to the ports to be unnecessary.

The carriers were instructed, however, that every effort should be made by them in leasing their warehouses to shippers to obtain terms no less favorable than would be sought were the warehouses owned independently of the railroad.

The practice of according storage space for fertilizer moving in interstate or foreign commerce at rates other than those prescribed were found in violation of the interstate commerce act.

In 1921 the secretary of war submitted a report of the army chief engineers to the commission contending that the war had resulted in a large fleet of commercial vessels seeking to operate in competition with commercial rivals and that the railroads were unable to provide piers sufficient to reduce the time in the ports.

The report also held that the railroads' charges at south Atlantic and Gulf ports equalled about one-fourth of the cost of the accessory services; that private terminals could not operate at such low charges in competition with the rail carriers; and that inadequate and inefficient facilities afforded by the railroads at those ports restricted shippers of import and export traffic.

Commissioners Eastman, McManamy, Campbell, Taylor and Porter dissented in part or in whole from the opinion.

Seven and a Half Million Dollars in Cash Is Rogers' Annual Refund to the Southeast

ROGERS' is a Southern organization, doing a fifteen-million-dollar pure food business annually, and of necessity making millions of dollars in purchases in distant States and foreign fields in order to meet the demands of their patrons for various products.

Yet Rogers returns in cash for redistribution in the South at least one-half of its annual receipts—Seven-and-a-half Million Dollars. This is returned for Southern products—for Southern manufactured goods—for rents and taxes—for salaries to 1,400 employees—and in contributions to charitable, civic and patriotic causes.

We mention this in no boastful spirit, but merely to show our thousands of friends and patrons that the money spent with Rogers—a home concern, with headquarters in Atlanta, where was established its first store 37 years ago—is money kept at home—kept in the South—for the aid of Southern families, Southern producers and manufacturers, and for the development of Southern communities.

Milk and other Dairy Products bought in three states (annually)	120,000.00
Georgia Sweet Potatoes bought annually.....	40,000.00
Apples, Eggs, Watermelons, Peaches, Peanut-Butter and other products purchased in Georgia and adjoining states.....	750,000.00
Georgia Meats and other products from packers and producers bought for our markets annually.....	500,000.00

Annual purchases from southern producers and manufacturers other than fresh meats, fish, fresh vegetables and fruits, ...	3,000,000.00

Of the Fifteen Millions of Dollars annually exchanged with Rogers, for food and household commodities, practically Five Millions of Dollars ($5,000,000.00) is passed right back into the hands of Southern producers and manufacturers;

One Million Seven Hundred and Twenty Thousand ($1,720,000.00) Dollars is returned to 1,400 employees in salaries;

One-half Million ($500,000.00) Dollars more is distributed back into rentals, insurance, taxes, boards of trade, charities, patriotic causes, and donations of other kinds; and,

Approximately Two Hundred Thousand ($200,000.00) Dollars is passed back to newspapers, printers and other forms of advertising.

All making a total of close to Seven and a Half Million ($7,500,000.00) Dollars redistributed to the people of the Southeast.

NATURALLY, Rogers' heaviest return of their fifteen-million-dollar income from sales is in Georgia, where their greatest number of stores are operated.

But the state of South Carolina, where 70 Rogers' stores are operated, receives the benefit of several hundred thousand dollars returned to her people for merchandise of various kinds sold through our entire group of stores.

In Alabama, where only about 35 stores—as yet—are serving the people, is bought thousands upon thousands of dollars' worth of fresh produce and other merchandise.

What more—what greater—service could any organization render a community—a State—a section—than in practicing a true reciprocal spirit, such as we show, to those whose patronage is so generously given in its support?

SURELY a Southern Institution, serving millions of people with the purest and best of foods, purchasing millions of dollars' worth of products in the South, and offering these products, as well as the products of the world's most famous manufacturers, at prices which mean GREAT SAVINGS, and giving to their patrons pleasing, courteous service in 400 clean, inviting stores and 190 modern markets, is entitled to your consideration and deserving of your patronage.

HELP OFFERED TEXAN JAILED AS MURDERER

Many Attorneys Offer Services to Former Judge.

Austin, Texas, November 11.—(AP)—Shaking convulsively at intervals in the Travis county jail, John W. Brady, one time judge of the third court of civil appeals and a leader in the civic, religious and official affairs of Texas, awaited tonight the processes of the law he so often expounded. Against him is a charge that he fatally stabbed Miss Lehlia Highsmith, stenographer for the supreme court commissioner of appeals, late Saturday night.

While attorneys from many parts of the state sent offers of assistance to the gray haired man of 57 who sits behind the bars that once confined the late famous O. Henry, it seemed likely that the accused man would not get a preliminary hearing on the murder charge until the latter part of the week.

Brady's counsel stoutly maintains that his client has no recollection of having killed any one but says that the attorney drank heavily of liquor after he attended a football game Saturday. Jail attaches said Brady appeared to be in a daze at the time he was taken to jail.

County Attorney Roy Archer declared he did not believe the case "a bailable one."

"From the facts that have been presented to me so far, it looks like a case in which the jury probably would inflict the death penalty," he added.

Miss Highsmith died early Sunday morning, an hour after she had been stabbed. Her attacker accosted her in front of her apartment house, where she had alighted from an automobile in which she had been riding with an Austin salesman.

The young woman had known Brady for several years and the couple often had been seen together, authorities declared. Judge Brady's friends said he had used his influence to obtain employment for her at the capitol at various times.

Relatives and friends bore to the grave in a simple funeral procession, the body of Miss Highsmith, and laid her away beside the grave of her mother who died several years ago.

The blade of a knife, officers described as about 12 inches long when opened, had penetrated to her heart. There were two other wounds on her arms.

Carolina Strike Troubles Choke Court Calendar

Marion, N. C., November 11.—(AP)—Attorneys and court attaches were making last minute preparations tonight for the trial beginning tomorrow of the series of cases growing out of textile strike disorders in this little mountain village during the last three months.

Court officials predicted several weeks would be taken up in trying the 119 cases on the docket for this special term called especially to try cases concerned with labor troubles.

The first case to be called will be that against Alfred Hoffman, organizer for the United Textile Workers of America, four strikers and one man not a striker. They are charged jointly with rebellion against the state and conspiracy to riot. Others who will go on trial with Hoffman are Will Russell, W. L. Hogan, West Fowler, Del Lewis and J. Hugh Hall, all of Marion. Hall is not a member of the union and union officials said their counsel would not represent him.

STRUCTURAL STEEL INDUSTRY ADOPTS CODE OF CONDUCT

Edgewater Park, Biloxi, Miss., November 11.—(AP)—With W. E. Humphrey, of the federal trade commission, presiding, the structural steel industry sought to purify its ranks today by adopting a code of ethics.

The meeting preceded the opening tomorrow of the annual convention of the American Institute of Steel Construction, and was attended by 400 steel industrialists.

The code will regulate the construction of buildings and bridges in the United States, prohibit improper designing, create standard specifications for work not regulated by local laws, stop territorial dumping of materials, price discrimination and misleading promises of delivery and performance.

It would also put an end to "shopping" by prohibiting the reopening of bids by contractors.

LIFE OF PRIEST HELD PRISONER IS THREATENED

Hankow, November 11.—(AP)—Threat that "within four days Father Ulrich Kreutzen will be tortured and killed" has been received here by friends of the priest, a Franciscan missionary who is being held captive at Weiyeukow, 75 miles north of Wu-chang.

Ransom of $10,000 Mexican was demanded in a letter which was brought from the bandits' camp by the Chinese servant of the missionary.

The mission here applied to the nationalist government foreign ministry for help in rescuing the pastor and received promises troops would be sent to Weiyeukow at once.

Father Ulrich was captured Friday morning when the bandits, allegedly communists, attacked and looted Weiyeukow, routing the small garrison there. His home is in Calumet, Mich.

STIMSON SUBMITS U. S. NAVAL STATUS TO FOUR NATIONS

Washington, November 11.—(AP)—Complete details of the present status of the American navy have been placed by Secretary Stimson before the representatives in Washington of the four powers which will participate with the United States in the forthcoming naval parity in London.

The information was contained in an unusually detailed and extensive document covering every phase of American naval strength, including tonnage, age, speed and gunpower. It marks the first formal exchange of data. Copies being handed the British, Japanese, French and Italian representatives for transmission to their governments.

Since the material is largely of a confidential nature it is not expected to be made public, but to be used mainly as a basis for formal preparation of the powers for the parity. Similar material is expected by the state department shortly from the other four powers.

CHINESE CONSUL, WIFE GUILTY OF SMUGGLING

Nanking, China, November 11.—(AP)—Ying Kao, former vice consul in San Francisco, and his wife, Mrs. Susie Ying Kao, today were sentenced to prison terms and fined on charges of attempting to smuggle opium valued at a half a million dollars into San Francisco last summer.

Ying Kao was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment and was fined $3,000 gold, while his wife was sentenced to four years in prison and was fined $2,500.

The couple were arrested in the United States last July after the discovery of an opium smuggling plot and were ordered back to China for trial by the Chinese government.

Ying Kao was declared to be ineligible for government service for seven years after he completes serving his prison term. The court stated that the heavier sentence had been meted out to Ying Kao because he had been a government official.

If the convicted persons do not pay their fines they will be allowed to serve them out in prison at the rate of $1.50 a day.

Suen Foon, consular attaché at San Francisco at the time of the opium seizure, who was returned with the Ying Kaos to face a similar charge, was acquitted and discharged.

It is considered certain that the case will be taken to the Soochow court of appeals.

RAILROADS ATTACKED ON WATERWAYS STAND

Speakers at Mississippi Valley Conference Hit Carriers.

St. Louis, November 11.—(AP)—The attitude of railroads toward inland waterways was condemned by three speakers on the program of the convention of the Mississippi Valley Association here today.

President William R. Dawes, of Chicago, warned the association that the railroads were organizing their opposition toward inland waterway development. Congressman Homer Hoch, of Kansas, accused the railroads of attempting in a number of ways to block the development of waterways, and Congressman E. E. Denison, of Illinois, asserted the railroads had organized a campaign of propaganda against the expenditure of any more money by the government on waterways.

President Dawes predicted that a showdown between enemies of waterways and waterway advocates was imminent.

Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama, another speaker, said the solution of the difficulties between the railroads and the barge lines lay in adequate control of joint water and rail rates by the federal government.

Hundreds of shippers by water from virtually every state of the Mississippi valley gathered for the convention. The delegations included every element interested in improvement of rivers and intra-coastal canals. Governor, congressmen, army officers and waterway enthusiasts were among the speakers. President Hoover sent a message of greeting to the association.

The president's waterway utterances in Louisville recently were touched upon in nearly every address of the day.

His promise of federal support for early completion of the Mississippi system was seen by the majority of speakers as opening an optimistic future for the development of waterways.

FLORIDA REPUBLICAN LEADER CALLS MEET

Callaway To Resign as Chairman—Eulogizes Activities of Committeeman.

Lakeland, Fla., November 11.—(AP)—E. E. Callaway, who recently announced his resignation as chairman of the republican state committee, today called the meeting to meet here Monday, January 13, to elect his successor.

In calling the meeting, Callaway reviewed the conditions which he said obtained in Florida prior to the election of Glenn B. Skipper as national committeeman. Skipper was agreed upon, Callaway said, because he was "a Florida Cracker and his record on the negro question was well known."

"C. E. Pitts and Dr. Fred E. Britten, chairman and secretary of the Orlando group, the white wing of the party in Florida, met here in my office early in 1927 to plan the defeat of George W. Bean, then national committeeman for Florida," Callaway said, "and to carry the delegation

TECH HALF BACK WITNESS IN CASE IN CRIMINAL COURT

Atlanta when Judge Jesse M. Wood tried Clarence Wise on a charge of larceny of clothing from a house at 652 West Peachtree. Judge Wood found Wise guilty of stealing clothes from Mizell, C. W. McCay and James Rowe, all of the West Peachtree address, and fixed the sentence of the defendant at a fine of $100 or 12 months on the chain-gang.

Warner Mizell, Tech halfback, Monday appeared in the role of prosecuting witness in the criminal court of Callaway said Walter Brown, postmaster-general, and Mr. Hoover were apprised of the situation in Florida, "through the courtesies of Judge William H. Phipps and the two of them accepted Mr. Skipper's leadership to handle the Florida situation."

"They knew why skipper was selected for leader; they knew that he didn't have any money; they knew his limitations, but they accepted him for leadership in Florida for they believed he was the man for the job," the resigned chairman said.

"Has skipper failed? Let me ask what co-operation has been given skipper by those whom he befriended here in the state or by the administration leaders in Washington? There is but one answer—absolutely nothing. On the other hand, everything has been done to discredit him. Glenn Skipper, the Cracker, has not been needed since the votes were counted on November 6."

Women Have Something to Say!
AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has ridiculed into oblivion that ancient prejudice which excluded women from a voice in council. Today, in millions of homes, the delicious flavor of LUCKY STRIKE fills the room as the family group respects the opinion of its women folk.

"toasting did it"—
Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"
No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

RUM RUNNERS BOMB FEDERAL PROHIBITION BOATS

Four Privately-Owned Ships
Also Damaged by Explosions in Mississippi.

Memphis, Tenn., November 11.—(P)—Federal officers were checking clues tonight in their search for bombers who slunk alongside two government motor raiders, wrecked them with dynamite, and dashed up the harbor under cover of fog. Whatever the officers had learned they kept it secret. Finis Wilson, deputy prohibition administrator here, said he accepted the bombing as a challenge from moon-shiners and rum runners and "since they have asked for war, they will get plenty of it," he said.

The motorboats, number 647, treasury department, and number 3305, customs registry, were demolished by the dynamite about 2 a. m. today.

Nearby crafts were damaged, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Busby, who live in a houseboat anchored near the raiders, were stunned by the blast. Mrs. Busby said she heard a motorboat speed up the river a few minutes before the blast shook their home.

The boats were anchored in Wolf river directly behind the federal building. Officers searched the river immediately following the bombing, but, aided by the fog, the dynamites escaped.

One of the boats was a 32-foot cruiser, captured from rum runners and pressed into government service. The other was 26 feet. It was sold by the government a few days ago.

A government motorboat and two others captured from rum runners were dynamited a year ago.

Alabamian Drowns.

FIRST FLORIDA STRAWBERRIES SOLD AT $5 FOR QUART

Lakeland, Fla., November 11.—(P)—The first quart of strawberries to be marketed in this section of Florida this winter brought the fancy price of $5 here today.

A local civic club bought the berries from George Lewellyn Galloway, a trucker.

They were full and ripe.

RIORDAN BANK DEPOSITS INCREASE IN DEPOSITS

New York, November 11.—(P)—The County Trust Company reported an increase in net deposits of $700,000 late this afternoon, at the close of the first business day since the suicide of its president, James J. Riordan, was made public.

Mr. Riordan shot himself Friday afternoon but news of his death was withheld from the public by Dr. Charles A. Norris, city medical examiner, until after the bank had closed Saturday afternoon.

Officials of the bank had a large amount of currency in the tellers' cages when the bank opened this morning.

John J. Raskob, who had been selected acting chairman by the board of directors, arrived at the bank at 8:30 a. m. and former Governor Alfred E. Smith, a director and close friend of Mr. Riordan, William H. English, acting president; William F. Kenny, and Vincent Astor, directors, were there during the forenoon.

Nothing out of the ordinary happened, however, except that several business men in the district showed their confidence in the bank's condition by depositing more money than usual. And some of them opened new accounts.

FOE OF ARGENTINE PRESIDENT KILLED

Dr. Carlos Leninas, Mendoza Political Boss, Slain
During Meeting.

Mendoza, Argentina, November 11.—(P)—Jose Caceres, believed by the police to have been the man who shot down Dr. Carlos Leninas last night, died at a hospital today.

Although he was not positively identified as the assassin, a police guard was kept around his bed at the hospital. Some witnesses said that he was the first to shout "Viva Yrigoyen" at the meeting which Dr. Leninas, a bitter opponent of President Yrigoyen and a political power in this city, was addressing. These witnesses said that during the disturbance which followed Caceres fired four shots, one of which struck Dr. Leninas in the head and another penetrated his lung.

Mendoza today generally mourned the man who had held the political fortunes of the province in his hand. Police and troops patrolled the streets and all theaters and public meeting places were closed as a precaution against reprisals. The newspapers condemned the shooting as a politically inspired plot to remove a powerful enemy of the president.

Even in Buenos Aires the press, with the exception of government organs, blamed the government for its failure to heed the appeal several days ago of Dr. Leninas for protection. The more sensational papers predicted serious repercussions in the national capital where political feeling for the past few weeks has been running high.

At least 21 persons were wounded in the sudden outbreak of general shooting in the crowd of 5,000 which was listening to Dr. Leninas. The latter had just returned from Buenos Aires to face a charge in federal courts of political corruption and maladministration while he was governor of Mendoza province. Last year he was elected a federal senator.

MRS. FALL CHARGES "APPALLING INJUSTICE"

Jurors Coerced Into Guilty
Verdict, Says Wife of Secretary.

El Paso, Texas, November 11.—(P)—Asserting that an "appalling injustice" had been done Albert B. Fall, the wife of the former secretary of the interior declared in an interview here today that his recent conviction in Washington on a charge of bribery was "forced" by three jurors who influenced other members of the jury to return a guilty verdict.

Fall and Mrs. Fall returned to their home here yesterday, seven days after their two daughters, Mrs. C. C. Chase and Mrs. Jewell Fall Elliott.

The trial is over, but we shall never quit the fight, Mrs. Fall declared. "We have ample proof that the verdict of guilty was returned not out of the conviction of 12 men and women but of only three, who forced the others to accede to their decision. We are going to appeal to the circuit court of appeals at Washington, but just when I don't know."

The story of Daniel Weisbach, one of the eight men who sat on the jury which tried Mr. Fall, is enough to show fair-minded American citizens that the verdict was not just.

"On the Sunday night following the Friday on which the jury returned its verdict, Weisbach came to me and told a story of agonizing remorse, the like of which I never heard before. He told me that he had tried to escape jury service at the trial but had failed. During the time the jury was locked up for deliberation, he said he had paced the floor in agony of mind and heart, trying to stop his ears to the flood of arguments advanced by those who wanted a verdict of guilty. Finally he had to give in, but like the majority of the other jurors, only with the understanding for mercy."

"When the time came for the jury to report, Weisbach told me that his resolution failed. He said he could not go into the court room and return a verdict of guilty in which he did not believe but the others rallied and bullied him into leaving the jury room."

"As the jury stood before the court Weisbach said that something burned within his head. He said he wanted to cry out 'No, I don't believe he is guilty.'"

"Sunday night he came to our hotel and said he wanted to clear his conscience by giving us an affidavit of his reactions during the trial. But we were informed that a legal statement could not be made on Sunday so the matter was postponed. Later when I called him to inquire about the affidavit, he said he had been instructed not to talk. Who issued those instructions, I don't know."

ENGLAND AGREES TO RETURN LAND TO CHINESE RULE

London, November 11.—(P)—Great Britain has agreed to return to China the British concession of Chinkiang province, on November 15.

The British government leased the concession perpetually in 1868.

The British foreign office, which officially announced that "his majesty's government in the United Kingdom had drawn up the agreement with the nationalist government of the republic of China, said that the British municipal administration would be dissolved and the municipal regulations repealed on the same date. China will grant Chinese deeds of perpetual lease in exchange for any documents of title previously issued by the British government. The concession is not far from Nanking.

Pending the promulgation by the nationalist government of new laws governing taxation throughout China, and pending the actual application of the same law throughout the Chinkiang district, the rate of the annual land tax paid by former holders of leases from the British crown will remain unchanged. British merchants will continue to have the right to transship goods across the foreshore of the river.

GOVERNOR IS LIAR, LOUISIANIAN SAYS, IN ELECTION ROW

Baton Rouge, La., November 11.—(P)—With the chief executive of Louisiana accused by Hewitt Bouanchaud, democratic nominee, of falsifying, Governor Long and local officials of the 13th judicial circuit tonight were deadlocked over the holding tomorrow of a general election in the district to ratify the result of a second primary of two weeks ago.

After issuing a proclamation today in New Orleans rescinding the calling of the election, Governor Long declared in a statement "we are confronted with every evidence of fraud in the primary" at which Mr. Bouanchaud, an anti-administration candidate, was nominated. Bouanchaud intimated the governor "a liar," and laid alleged fraud at the door of the governor and the governor's henchmen.

"It comes with poor grace, indeed," said Bouanchaud, "for a governor who stands indicted of high crimes and misdemeanors by the house of representatives of the state of Louisiana to speak or act in the name of honesty and virtue."

In spite of a ruling by Attorney General Percy Saint that the governor's action was conclusive when he called the election, November 12, Governor Long sent the proclamation to Baton Rouge in his effort to cancel the plans.

His mandate, however, brought no cessation in preparation in the district for the ballot. Tonight the voting boxes had been distributed in the various precincts, the official tickets were in hand and commissioners were ready to open the polls in the morning.

DORAN CREATES NEW DRY DISTRICT FOR NEW ORLEANS

Washington, November 11.—(P)—Creation of a new special agent district No. 12, to include Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, southern and southeastern Texas was announced tonight by Prohibition Commissioner Doran. The change does not affect the present prohibition administration districts.

The special agents are a small number of men who do special work in the various administrative districts and those in the new district formerly had headquarters at Jacksonville, Fla. The change will make New Orleans their headquarters.

The change does not contemplate in any way, Doran said, a reorganization of the prohibition administrative work but merely will affect a few special agents who are working in the southern part of the country.

A. MacMurray. It was considered certain Johnson would be acceptable to China.

Washington, November 11.—(P)—Representative William R. Wood, of Indiana, today formally was elected by the house as chairman of its powerful committee on appropriations. Wood has been acting chairman throughout the special session as the chairman, Daniel R. Anthony, Jr., of Kansas, did not seek re-election to the present congress.

The house also formally organized the committee so it could start with in a few days the job of drafting the annual supply bills, all members of the committee in the last congress were re-elected but five vacancies were not filled.

The gentleman's agreement to adjourn for three-day periods without transacting business was renewed by Representatives Tilson and Garner, the republican and democratic leaders. The new agreement will hold until November 21.

Paul J. Kvale was sworn in to succeed his father, the late O. J. Kvale, of the seventh Minnesota district, as a farmer-laborer member, and Robert Ramspeck was sworn in to succeed the late Leslie J. Steele, of the fifth Georgia district. Ramspeck, like Steele, is a democrat.

The resignation of Thomas S. Williams, of Illinois, effective today, was received. He resigned to become a member of the court of claims and took office today.

A resolution expressing regret over the death of the late Senator Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, who was for many years a member of the house, was presented by Representative Murphy, republican, Ohio, and was adopted unanimously.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only becoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 oz. of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. (adv.)

Mothers... Watch Children's COLDS

COMMON head colds often "settle" in throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take a chance—at the first sniffle rub on Children's Musterole once every good hour for five hours.

Children's Musterole is just good Musterole, you have known so long, in milder form.

Working like the trained masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

Keep full strength Musterole on hand, for adults and the milder—Children's Musterole for little tots. All druggists.

MUSTEROLE

BETTER THAN A MUSTARD PASTER MILD

Relieves Colds In 2 Minutes

To cut short a cold, cough due to cold, and prevent complications, nothing gives such quick and delightful relief as Aspironal, a new scientific, "Liquid Cold Remedy" that clears the head; relieves congestion in the nose and throat; checks the excessive flow of mucus; banishes dull headaches and that chilly, aching feeling.

Aspironal is a complete, "Liquid Cold Remedy" acting gently on the liver and bowels, and your druggist is authorized to refund your money while you wait at the counter if you do not feel relief coming in two minutes. All druggists carry Aspironal, the largest selling liquid cold remedy in the world. (adv.)

Hard to Breathe at Night?

It's foolish to run chances with those wheezing, gasping spells associated with Asthma and nasal irritations at night when you can get prompt relief in just a few minutes' time. How? Go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes right now.

That's the first step. Next, smoke a few during the day and one just before you go to bed—and the chances are you won't lose sleep tonight. But in any case, you can be sure if you are attacked that just a few puffs of one of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes will quickly relieve you.

Thousands of men and women keep Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes handy at night. One Atlanta, Ga., woman says she knows if she has a bad breathing spell, she will be able to get to sleep in a few minutes after smoking one of these medical cigarettes. No tobacco or cube in Dr. Blosser's—just a special combination of herbs, berries and flowers whose soothing vapor has a clearing action that opens up air passages when nothing else can.

BEAVERS FIGURES IN AUTO ACCIDENT; CAR IS DAMAGED

Even police officers have automobile crashes it developed Monday morning in a report turned in to the traffic squad head by Chief of Police Beavers.

His department car suffered a wrenched bumper Sunday night when it ran into an unidentified car on Decatur and New streets. The chief's car struck the machine in avoiding a crash with another, driven by a woman, and coming into Decatur street from New street. The unidentified car sped away.

A parade of an entirely military nature wound its way through downtown Atlanta, while thousands stood with bared heads, despite the drizzle of rain which fell throughout. The parade was a brief affair compared with those of the past, but it served to keep alive the memory of those who fought and died that the world might remain safe for democracy.

The hour when hostilities ceased—11 o'clock—was commemorated here Monday by a silent halt at Five Points while a bugler sounded "Taps." Chief Beavers rode at the head of the procession with a mounted staff, and the line of march extended from Baker street down Peachtree and Whitehall to Trinity.

Units in Parade. The parade was composed of members of the American Legion and other World War veterans' organizations, the 122d infantry, units from the regular army stationed at Fort McPherson, Women's Overseas League, Atlanta Post No. 1 of American Legion, units from G. M. A. Marist, Tech High, Boys' High, Fulton High, Russell High and six bands. The band of the 22d U. S. infantry was the forerunner of the bands, followed in order by the 122d infantry national guard band, G. M. A. band, the police band, and musical organizations of Tech High, Marist, Boys' High and Fulton High. Members of the local naval reserve marched behind their drum corps.

Assistant marshals who composed the staff of Marshal Charles Cox were: Major Trammell Scott, Lieutenant Colonel Frank Thomas, Major John M. Slaton, Jr., Major E. R. Schmidt, Major H. M. Degen, Captain Harry Wallerstein, Captain James Harrison and Lieutenant H. V. Hardegree.

While all principal banks, the city hall, the state capitol and the federal building closed their doors for the day, many shops followed their example and closed the day, and others for the duration of the parade which wound its way along streets decorated with hundreds of flags.

Services at West View.

The parade was not the only gesture on the part of Atlantans. The Professional Golfers' Association, in session at the Ansley hotel, observed the 11 o'clock minute of quiet while a bugle sounded "Taps." During the afternoon a service was conducted at the grave of Major Asa Warren Candler, in West View cemetery. He was a past commander of the Georgia Legion. Past Commander Fonville McWhorter delivered an address and remarks were made by Rex Witherspoon Dodge, chaplain of the Atlanta post, and Walter LeCraw, chairman of the Legion memorial committee.

During the afternoon four legionnaires, descendants of Confederate veterans, were presented with crosses of service by Miss R. M. Moran, of the U. S. C. R. service.

Slaton, Jr., William F. Slaton, Waldo M. Slaton and F. L. Price. Waldo M. Slaton was killed in action and his medal was received by his father, William M. Slaton.

Decatur and all other boroughs held fitting ceremonies of tribute during the day. Capt. Augustus Sams was the principal speaker at the Decatur function, and Mayor Scott Candler was master of ceremonies.

TRUANT GLORIA IS IN SECLUSION WITH MOTHER

New Orleans, November 11.—(P)—Gloria Rouzer, held in jail four weeks as a material witness in the steamboat mystery death of Jack Kraft, New York pressman and murderer, was in seclusion today following her release yesterday.

With her signed testimony transcript in the case, the 21-year-old artist traveler ended her confinement mostly spent in a cell of the moss-covered Pointe à la Hache jail. Immediately her mother, Mrs. Gloria Rouzer, who came last week from New York, took her truant daughter in charge, and they were said by attorneys to have left the state.

Her testimony will be used in the trial of John McGouldrick, second mate of the steamship Creole, on which Kraft and the girl were traveling companions. McGouldrick was charged with murder when Kraft's body was washed ashore, bullet-pierced, after he was said to have made a suicidal leap overboard as the boat steamed up the Mississippi the night of October 11. The indictment resulted from a grand jury statement by the girl.

SCHOOL WORKERS' SENIORITY RIGHTS TO COME UP TODAY

Seniority rights for employees of the maintenance department of the Atlanta board of education will be aired this afternoon at a meeting of the board and education slated for 3 o'clock. William C. Slate, commissioner from the second, declared.

Mr. Slate will champion the cause of several employees who were laid off when the department was cut to prevent running a deficit in funds.

He will be opposed in his position by Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, and Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, who contends that Mr. Ritchie's contention that he should be permitted to retain the employees he wants in the interest of efficiency and economy should be maintained.

Adjustment of several contracts for retention of school under the 1929 school bond issue also will be ready for action of the board, it was announced.

Many other routine matters are slated for consideration of the board.

FLOWER SHOW GETS FINISHING TOUCHES

Exhibition Opens Wednesday in City Auditorium for Four Days.

Finishing touches will be applied today to the gorgeous displays in the Southeastern Flower Show, which will open Wednesday at the city auditorium for four days.

The show is being sponsored by the Atlanta Florists Club, which numbers among its membership many of the leading florists of Atlanta, with the support and co-operation of some of the principal garden clubs.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the show, and it is claimed by those in charge, Edward A. Wachendorf, general chairman, and Foster B. Steward, director general, that it will surpass anything of the kind ever held in this section of the country.

For weeks scores of workmen, florists and decorators have been engaged in transforming the auditorium into a veritable flower garden. The effect obtained is said to be most attractive and it is believed will prove interesting on the whole.

An advance ticket selling campaign which has been under way for several weeks with 35 women competing has been very successful, according to Mr. Steward, indicating that the show will attract large crowds.

Auxiliary Makes Splendid Start In Selling Ads

So universal is the interest felt in the rotogravure section of The Constitution for December 8, sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children, that a splendid start was made in signing up advertisements yesterday. This, too, in spite of the fact that it rained all day and that the interests of many people were centered in the activities of Armistice Day.

It is most gratifying to those responsible for the brilliant success of this venture last year that they are meeting with an even more cordial response this year from the merchants and other business men who were represented in the 1928 gravure section. Already a number of big contracts have been made, and the edition will be a great business success as well as a work of art. Many of the photographs featured this season's Delux Club, individually or collectively, will add tremendous charm to the pictures filling the pages, a charm all the more potent because such models are, of course, exclusive and give the advertisements the lure of a personal and social matter in addition to the dignity and importance of a business proposition.

Members of the auxiliary can be found in their private office at The Constitution every day from nine to four, prepared to furnish any desired information, to make special arrangements for the posing of any desired debutante or prominent matron, and to co-operate in every way with those who wish to take advantage of the magnificent opportunity afforded by placing an advertisement in this edition.

MUST NOW STEP LIVELY

No Time to Lose in Taking Advantage of Unusual Offer

"Watch your step" and "step lively" are terms that were popularized by the rush and crush of the passenger transportation lines in the big cities. And if these cautionary notices were not heeded there would be many more accidents.

The time has arrived when "step lively" is urged upon readers who have not yet taken advantage of the Dictionary offer, which for some time has been announced in these columns. This offer will soon be withdrawn, so "watch your step" and get in line before they're all gone.

Clip the Dictionary coupon from another column of this issue and act upon the information contained therein at the earliest possible moment. (adv.)

GEORGIAN OFFERS BILL TO GUARD INVESTORS

Would Require Firms To Register All Securities.

Washington, November 11.—(Special.)—With a view of safeguarding the investing public, Representative Charles G. Edwards, of Savannah, introduced in the lower house today a bill requiring that all financial houses or individuals engaged in the sale of bonds, stocks or other certificates of indebtedness shall, before such issues are offered to the public, file with the secretary of the treasury a complete statement showing not only the financial condition of the company or individual, but also capital assets and the book value of the stock or bond offered.

A second section of the bill provides that such reports shall be filed with the treasury department head every three months and that the information shall be made available to the public. Persons found guilty of violating the proposed law would be subject to a fine of not less than $10,000 or imprisonment from one to three years, or both, in the discretion of the court.

In a brief statement afterwards, Representative Edwards explained that the purpose of his measure was to prevent and regulate the issuance of securities in which the public is led to invest and whose value is difficult to determine under the present financial system of the country. The measure is designed to prevent stocks reaching a high speculative value on recognized exchanges with the danger of collapse such as that recently witnessed in Wall Street.

LEHMAN ANDERSON
FOUND AT HIS DESK
DESPITE HOLIDAY

The pencil of light from Diogenes' ghostly lantern, which often has gone winking and blinking about the earth in search of an honest man, cut through the murky gloom of the state capitol's interior Monday and came to rest above the desk of a conscientious state employee.

Lehman Anderson, chief clerk of the state department of agriculture, was singled out for recognition.

Mr. Anderson had two valid reasons for taking Monday as a holiday. Governor L. G. Hardman had declared the day a holiday for all capitol offices. And, further, Monday was his birthday. His advent into the world was on November 11, 1901.

Yet despite the double reason and increased temptation to take the day off, Mr. Anderson passed it at his desk.

Several other of the capitol offices were also open. The supreme court and the court of appeals considered cases during the day, and various officials and employees were in their offices for short periods.

INTER-RACIAL BODY
ASKS CONVICTION
OF FLORIDA MOB

The commission on interracial cooperation through its director, Dr. Will W. Alexander, Monday addressed a telegram to Governor Doyle E. Carleton, of Florida, relative to the lynching which took place at Quincy, Fla., Saturday night.

The telegram follows: "Governor Doyle E. Carleton, Tallahassee, Fla.: 'Distressed to note your progressive administration marred by another lynching, the third in Florida this year, in a total of five for the whole country. This act of anarchy a serious blow at Florida's good name and a reflection upon the whole south. The honor of the state demands prompt apprehension and conviction of the perpetrators. However heinous the victim's crime, lynching can have no defense under a government of law. Its continuance stigmatizes our civilization and discredits our religious professions around the world. Signed commission on interracial cooperation.'

"By Will W. Alexander, director." In giving the telegram to the press, Dr. Alexander said: "This latest outbreak of mob violence in Florida is very discouraging. For a number of years the south has been struggling to shake off the lynching habit, and with notable success. Ten states had lynchings in 1920, seven in 1927, five in 1928. So far this year lynchings have occurred in only three states, Florida, Mississippi and Tennessee and Florida has furnished three of the five victims."

The raid resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Emma Jordan, Sam E. Stanley and Nina Harris. The supply was found in a locked room in the rear of the house, agents stated.

STREET CAR MAN
SLUGGED IN HEAD
AND ROBBED OF $80

W. S. Curvie, street car motorman, was slugged in the head with a sand-bag early Monday morning by two unidentified white men and robbed of $80, he reported to police. The two then fled to a near-by car, driven by a third youth, and escaped.

Curvie was standing at the rear of his car in the act of changing the trolley, when he heard himself addressed from behind. Before he could turn he was knocked to the ground and one of the youthful bandits stepped over him, pointed a pistol in his face and instructed his companion to rifle his pockets.

Twenty dollars of power company money was taken from him and $60 of his own.

WOMAN INJURED
IN AUTO ACCIDENT
SUES FOR $25,000

An alleged case of adding insult to injury was revealed Monday when Mrs. Irene Williams filed suit for $25,000 damages as the result of an accident on Forsyth street near Brotherton on October 30. Mrs. Williams named J. L. Forrester, of DeKalb county, as the owner of the car, and Marvin Jones and Clarence Morris, of Fulton county, as the operators, and sued the three. The plaintiff charged that after she was knocked down by the car operated by Morris and Jones the two defendants picked her up and drove a block before Morris said to Jones: "The law will get us and we must do something with this woman." The petition was filed by Attorneys Carl F. Hutcheson and E. L. Fowler.

where. While brokers loans have decreased since September to the extent of about 30 per cent, the credit situation is painted in rather conservative colors in some quarters. Week-end business queries pointed to some further price cutting in automobiles and radio sets, but in other industries were struggling with over-production and keen competition before the stock market eyes. Such extensive chain store systems as Kroger Grocery and Safeway Stores reported satisfactory sales during October, and further gratifying curtailment of crude oil production was reported from California. The list of New York brokerage firms that have failed during the trying market was raised to three, the change house had failed, but like the two curb house failures previously announced, the firm was small and a negligible factor in Wall Street.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.
Associated Press Financial Writer.

The stock market was crushed to depths unpenetrated during the recent selling panic during the last half of trading today, as further liquidation of an urgent character was dumped onto the market. Trading had displayed a notable slackening until toward the close of the three-hour session, and the ticker had kept abreast of the market, but the late rush of selling carried the day's total sales to 3,367,150 shares, slightly exceeding Friday's turnover of 3,214,600 shares. Lead-points, and the Standard Statistics Co. and Associated Press indices for all groups reached new low levels for the year.

Little Adverse News.

There was not much in the day's news to cause any further inroads on speculative confidence, but unadmittedly the market was promptly intensified in authoritative quarters. The suicide of James J. Rorimer, attributed by some to market losses, was the basis of much gloomy theorizing, although reports that he had participated in a large pool were called money held officially at 6 per cent, although it was available in the open market at 5 1/2 per cent.

Commodity markets were mostly depressed.

Although the Chicago board of trade was closed in observance of Armistice Day, wheat was underpinned about 1 1/2 to 2 points, cotton dropped about 1 1/2 to 2 points, and for the season, reflecting the break in the market, lower Liverpool cables and foreign exchange were dull and fairly steady, although sterling cables sagged 1-1/2 of a cent to $4.87 13-16.

Market Gossip

Daily Views of Wall Street Stock Market by Telegraph.

Stock Letters.

FEINER & BEAR.

New York, November 11.—Selling pressure in today's session and prices were forced down to approximately 100 points below the recent decline. Trading was quiet, however, and there was a complete absence of any speculative activity which has marked recent declines.

Week-end news contributed little to the question of the outlook for industry except the speculative consideration of the extent to which business will be injured by the recent collapse in stock prices. With the downward tendency reported last week in the steel and automobile industries, the selling pressure which had to be met, therefore, affected values considerably more than might have been expected.

We do not regard today's decline in the market as indicative of any broad scale liquidation. It is rather a moderate amount of concentrated buying, the selling pressure being a sharp rally, character and a technical rally, we believe, will develop tomorrow.

BLUTH & CO.

New York, November 11.—Renewed liquidation today caused the averages to break down to new low levels. Traders who have been encouraged to believe that the previous double bottom marked the low point of the decline were thereby distinctly disappointed. From a technical standpoint it is now therefore only possible to say that no assurance can be given that the market has reached its lowest point.

Leaving aside technical factors it is clear enough that most of the selling pressure below intrinsic values. Undoubtedly the decline in the market will affect the business unfavorably in 1930, different industries suffering in widely differing degrees. Even making due allowance for shrinkage in earnings power, however, many sound stocks are now attractively priced.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, November 11.—For the last few days we have been watching the market to watch out for gathering momentum in the slow decline in prices from the high established on last Thursday. Truly, the market today was a duplication of the market action on October 28, when the market never attained a level safely above their own. Breakage through these levels by important issues will postpone a while further final stabilization.

Volume today was about two-thirds of volume Friday up to noon. Whatever of significance in the market today may have had, it did not have a great deal of weight at this moment it is in values and the low close will not affect tomorrow's prices. However, it might be expected under normal circumstances.

We do not advise selling stocks here. We would rather buy than sell.

Cotton Letters.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, November 11.—Through the market sold off to new lows today, the weakness in cotton, there was no large volume of liquidation. The market was off in a dull market, with trade support just sufficient to allow cotton to close 10 points down in a quiet market.

While we feel there is no necessity of rushing in to buy the market we do not think the market will decline much further under present uncertainties in the cotton market.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: January 8.18, March 8.30.

ORVING BROTHERS & CO.

New York, November 11.—Today's cotton market was a continuation of the action of the previous day. The market was off in a dull market, with trade support just sufficient to allow cotton to close 10 points down in a quiet market.

The textile merchants' figures for October show a decrease for cotton and if it goes to any considerable extent the market would feel it.

On the other hand, prices are approaching the level where the market is willing to lend on cotton in unlimited quantities and it looks as if co-operatives will receive a great deal more cotton this year than any previous year.

Leaders Lose to 12 Points But Few Issues Hit New Lows

New York, November 11.—(P)—A steady stream of selling poured into the New York Curb market today, carrying most of the leaders down to 12 points, and a few specialties, such as the oil shares, were broken to new low levels on current decline. All groups participated in the decline, with the public utility, oil and investment trust issues bearing the brunt of the selling pressure.

There was nothing in the business news over the week-end to account for the renewed liquidation, but the banker and the circulation of many armistice rumors caused widespread uneasiness. It also was apparent that the day's trading was orderly in character and about normal in volume.

American Gas & Electric and Electric & Share each broke 12 points. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore dropped 10 points, and a long list of others, including American Superpower, American & Foreign Power, American United Gas, and Utilities Power & Light, fell 10 points.

Some of the selling in the oil shares may have been influenced by the cut in gasoline prices in the middle west last week. Gulf of Pennsylvania, Vacuum and Indian Territorial, each, and Standard Oil of Indiana and Kentucky, Louisiana Land & Exploration and several others a point or more.

In the investment trust and trading corporation division, First Continental, Allied Realty, Blue Bird, Goldman Sachs, Lehman, Blue Bird, Trans-America lost 10 points. Several of the high priced specialties, such as the oil shares, were broken to new low levels on current decline. All groups participated in the decline, with the public utility, oil and investment trust issues bearing the brunt of the selling pressure.

Commerce Commission Approves Stock Issue Of N. Y. C. Railroad

Washington, November 11.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized the New York Central railroad to issue $35,000,000 of capital stock with a par value of $100 per share.

The proposed stock is to be used for partial reimbursement of the road's treasury. Commissioner Eastman, dissenting, held that it had not been shown that the issue would be "reasonably necessary and appropriate."

In California

50 miles south of San Francisco, on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railway, is the City of San Jose, chief and central city of the rich Santa Clara Valley.

San Jose is situated 10 miles from tidewater, at the head of San Francisco Bay, in a valley 60 miles long and 20 miles wide, and thus has unlimited room for expansion.

The principal industries of the City are fruit, farm products, canneries and live stock; in fact, the section produces nearly one-half of the dried prunes in the world and the canneries include one-third of the entire canned fruit output of California. The total value of the yearly output of the factories situated in San Jose is estimated at $60,000,000.

San Jose Water Works

(now an Operating Unit of General Water Works and Electric Group) operates in San Jose and its environs, serving a population exceeding 95,000.

The Company secures its water supply from two sources—gravity collection reservoir and deep wells. The gravity system has approximately 280,000 gallons storage capacity and is supplemented by deep wells having a daily pumping capacity of 26,000,000 gallons. The average daily consumption exceeds 7,000,000 gallons.

The recent acquisition of this Company—an evidence of the sound, progressive policy of the General Water Works and Electric Corporation management—is part of the program which has already contributed to the rapid expansion shown in the following tabulation:

	July 31, 1928	July 31, 1929*	Increase

MOTHERS OF DEBUTANTES SEE PASSING OF JAZZ AGE

Customs of Post-War Days Now in Limbo of Bad Taste

THE jazz age is over in Atlanta—that is among the really well bred. It died early in the fall when the 1929-30 debutantes made their first bow to society. None of the excitement in New York city over the mothers-of-debutantes committee—of which our own Agatha Shehan Kress is an important member—is necessary here.

The reaction of the mothers-of-Atlanta debutantes to the "early-to-bed," "jazz-is-dying-kill-him" slogan in New York is that the '29-'30 girls just have to go to bed early, so many of them have to go to work next morning; that the lovely young members of Atlanta society, so much admired en masse as well as in detail at the recent Halloween ball, are serious minded girls, well educated and anxious to do something worth while—to be useful as well as beautiful.

The remarks of Miss Truesdale, leading spirit in the New York Debutantes Club, when arriving late for a recent mothers' meeting—that she was sorry she was late; that she had gone to work that morning and couldn't get off until 5 o'clock—wouldn't have caused even the flicker of an eyelash in Atlanta. There it had the effect, it seems, of a bursting bomb.

ALL of this must mean that New York is, after all, rather behind the times as far as Atlanta is concerned. Here, not only the debs are working, but the sub-debs, the post-debs, and the married women.

Miss Ann Spalding, for instance, has the southern agency of a certain New York fashion paper—the very best, the most recherche of all of them. She covered the Atlanta field successfully, calling in her happy young friends to help her. Later, she canvassed Macon and Augusta, now she is doing wonderful things in Columbia, S. C.

Miss Elizabeth Spalding is working with her mother at the latter's up-to-date antique and oddment shop, where glittering lights and soft colors charm the spirit, and elegance and beauty run riot.

Miss Helen Beasley shows gowns and says, "May I help you," in the sweetest voice in one of the bijou shops where people go when they want something just a little prettier than anyone else has.

Miss Ruth Rowbotham has made a special study of home economics and domestic science and hopes to teach them.

Miss Margaret Kelley teaches the fourth grade at Faith Street school and loves her work so much that all the combined efforts of her family could not induce her to relinquish it.

Miss Marion Wolf is a clever young journalist and is employed daily by one of the Atlanta papers.

Miss Leila Mason is the captain of the Sam Inman branch of the Camp Fire Girls, and one of the good angels of the crippled children's home.

And there are others galore. Every day more and more of them are working. The news that one of Atlanta's big department stores had written to the Junior League offering positions to its members, from 11 to 5 o'clock each day during the Christmas rush, has been confirmed. Ten Junior League members have already enrolled. Two of these have already been put to work and the others will be installed two by two as the volume of Christmas business increases.

If the girls keep on working (and nothing, it seems, can dissuade them) there will be a decided decrease in the number of cigarettes smoked daily in this city. It takes a good right hand to smoke. The very right hand that is so much needed in all important matters of business. So much for that anyway!

THE 30-odd debutantes of this season with their tall slender figures, their serene young faces, their graceful, long dresses, their interest in graver things—not too grave—their willingness to be of service, are suggesting new ideas—or are they old ones?—to those who behold them and note their daily activities.

At a recent reception, when they were all grouped together at one end of the great ballroom, Bond Almand, president of the Young Men's Democratic League, began, suddenly, thinking out loud: "That is the most beautiful group of young women I have ever beheld." He was silent a moment, "If they would only pass a resolution in their club and observe it, that not one of them would go out or dance with a man who had been drinking, they would do more to enforce prohibition than any law that could be enacted."

K. Jacobs, wearing a black velvet short-jacket-ensemble suite opening over a square necked white satin vest, with a black fox fur over one shoulder, and a small black hat with a narrow veil-like fall of lace, was decidedly one of the beauties of the occasion, with her fresh blue eyes, bright color, and sweet inclusive smile.

Sigma Delta Kappa Entertains at Dinner.

Kappa Chapter of Sigma Delta Kappa, national law fraternity of the Atlanta Law school, entertained with a dinner Saturday evening at the Blue Boar cafeteria. Former Vice Chancellor Melvin E. Olsen, now prominent member of the bar, acted as toastmaster for the occasion. The national convention which is to be held in Atlanta December 29-31, at the Biltmore was the topic of discussion.

Transton-Forster Wedding Rites Are Solemnized at St. Luke's

The marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Transton to Bruce Morrison Forster was solemnized Monday afternoon at St. Luke's Episcopal church on Peachtree street. The Rev. N. R. High Moor, rector of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of an assemblage of friends and relatives of the two families.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Masses of palms and ferns, interspersed with tall bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums, were banked around the altar and chancel. On the altar in seven-branched candelabra, burned short white tapers, while at each side of the altar step, where the ceremony was performed, stood tall seven-branched candelabra, shedding a soft glow over the entire church. The pews where the families of the bride and groom sat were marked with sprays of yellow and white chrysanthemums tied with white ribbon.

The Musical Program.
Preceding the ceremony, Hugh Hodgson, organist of the church, rendered a program of beautiful music, among the numbers being "Meditation," by Gault; "Prayer," by Lamore; "Pastorale," by Wachs; "Orange Blossoms," by Friml; "Andantino," by Battiste. The wedding party entered to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," and as a recessional Mr. Hodgson played Mendelssohn's wedding march. During the ceremony, the organist played softly, "Evening Star," from Tannhauser, and the love music from "Madame Butterfly."

The Attendants.
First came the ushers, Frank Oerting, Irwin McKoy, James Smith, John Transton, brother of the bride, who entered in pairs. Little Mathilde Transton, young sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid, came next. She was dressed in a peach colored flat crepe frock, featuring the slender, graceful lines of the ultra-modern silhouette. Three bows of the same material, tied on either side, gave a lovely finish to the dress, which was cut with a low V in the back and a rounded front neckline. Her flowers were white and yellow chrysanthemums, tied with peach colored satin ribbon.

Month's Trial Helped Her

"I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was 14 years old to build me up. I had been frail and nervous. After taking three bottles I was in normal condition. Since then I occasionally have a run-down feeling which makes me weak, nervous and irritable. By taking two or three bottles of the Compound I am back to normal."—Mrs. Jerry C. Jarvis, R. F. D. a bridesmaid, entered next. Miss Forster's gown was green flat crepe, made with the uneven hem line, the neck line of the bodice being rounded in front and cut to a low V in the back. Her flowers were yellow and white chrysanthemums tied with green satin ribbon. The second bridesmaid, Miss Katherine Babb, gowned in orchid flat crepe, made along the same lines as the gown of Miss Forster. She also carried yellow and white chrysanthemums tied with orchid colored satin ribbon.

Mrs. George P. Hilliard, of Montgomery, Alabama, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, was next to enter. Her gown was of eggshell flat crepe, featuring the long straight lines, shirred to the slender, graceful form of the body. The skirt was finished with the popular uneven hem line, dipping almost to the floor in the back. Panels shirred to the sides formed graceful dips with the hem line effect. Her flowers were yellow and white chrysanthemums, tied with eggshell colored satin ribbon.

The Lovely Bride.

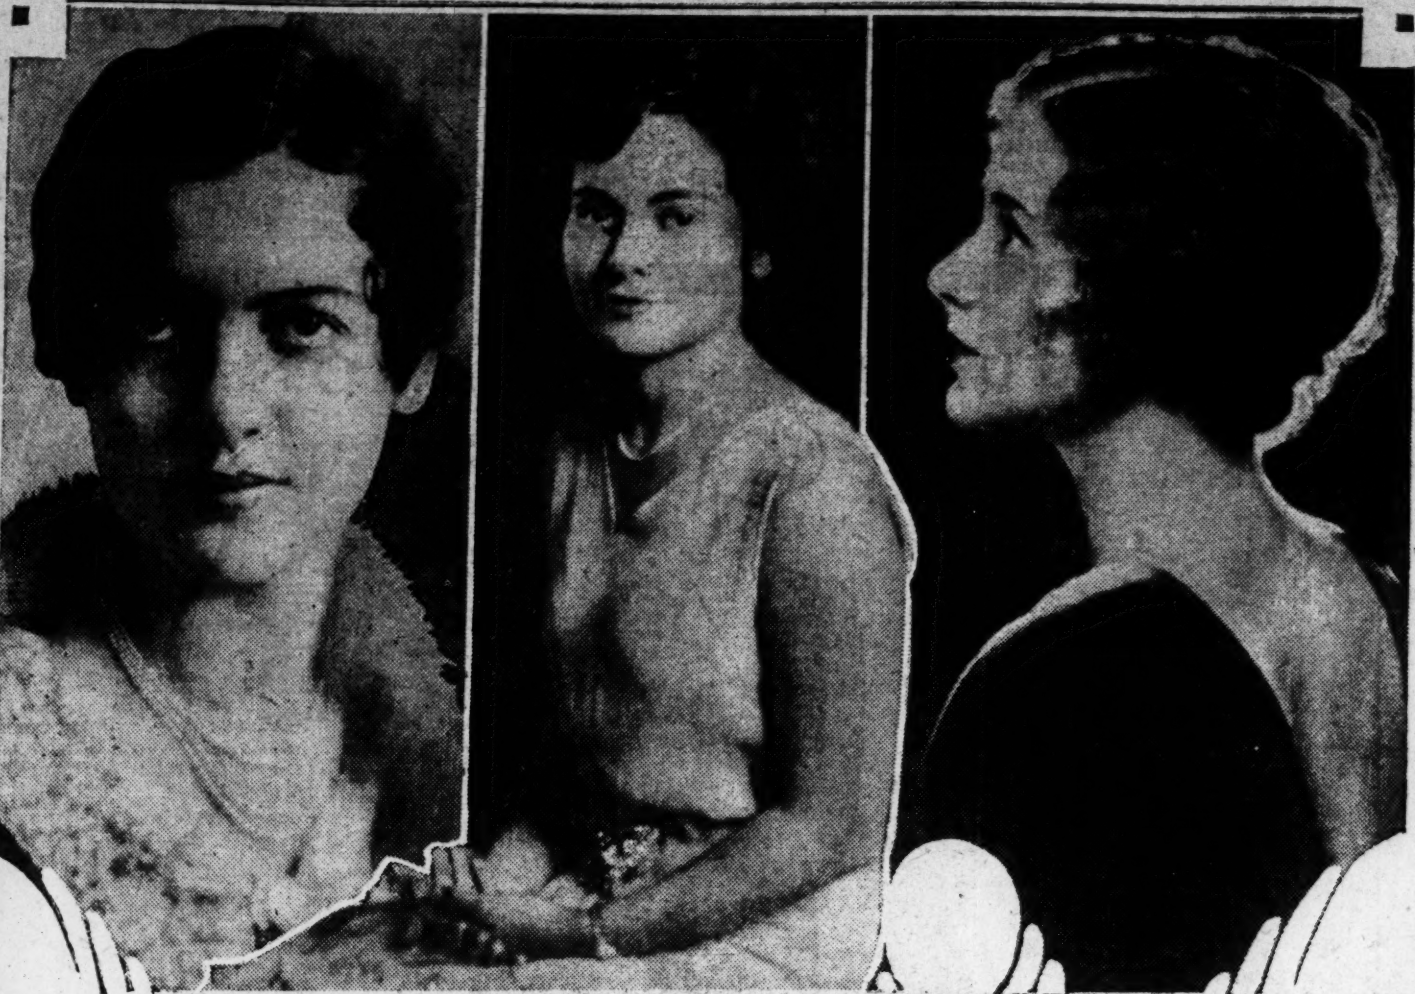

Entering the church on the arm of her father, Charles Sidney Transton, came the beautiful bride, who was never more lovely than she appeared in her bridal robes. She wore the same ivory satin gown and tulle veil worn by her sister, Mrs. George P. Hilliard who was a bride of last November. Her gown was fashioned along lines of extreme simplicity. A deep V neck, both front and back, and long sleeves were its distinguishing features. The skirt was finished with the fashionable uneven hem line. The yoke girdle was caught in front with circles of handkerchief roses and orange blossoms, centered with seed pearls. Two great bustle bows in the back fell in graceful folds to the floor. The wedding veil of white tulle was fastened capsize over her brow and held in place with two bands of orange blossoms; it encircled the slender girlish figure of the bride and fell in a long, court train to the back. The bride carried a bouquet of large white chrysanthemums interspersed with button chrysanthemums, showered with swansons and tied with white satin ribbon. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

The groom and his best man, who was his brother, Glenn Forster, met the bride and her father at the chancel steps, where the bride was given in marriage. From the steps of the chancel, the bride and groom, attended by the best man and maid of honor, proceeded to the altar where the ceremony was completed. For this part of the ceremony the lights in the church were extinguished and only the altar candles were burning, giving a most beautiful and solemn effect.

Beautiful Costumes.
Mrs. Charles Sidney Transton, mother of the bride, wore black crepe mara combined with moire, trimmed with jet, which she wore a shoulder bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies. The groom's mother, Mrs. R. M. Forster, was gowned in dahlia crepe. Her corsage was of yellow roses and valley lilies. Mrs. L. H. Forster, of Dayton, Ohio, aunt of the groom, wore a gown of satin lace. Miss Dorothy Forster of Dayton, Ohio, niece of the groom, wore a pale greenorgette. Miss Virginia Bowie was gowned in Fougere transparent velvet, trimmed with gold Lamme lace. Miss John Bowie, another aunt of the bride, wore wisteria. Ninette crepe combined with Broche velvet of deeper shades. Mrs. Adam W. Jones of Greensboro, North Carolina, aunt of the bride, wore Boquet crepe Margot. Immediately following the ceremony the bride and groom left by automobile for a honeymoon in Florida. Upon their return they will be at home at 906 Greenview avenue.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Adam W. Jones of Greensboro, N. C., Mrs. L. H. Forster of Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. George P. Hilliard of Montgomery.

Atlanta Woman's Club Observes Armistice Day and Birthday

A brilliant address by Dr. M. L. Brittain, principal of the Georgia School of Technology, featured the Armistice Day program at the meeting of the Atlanta Woman's Club held Monday afternoon, preceding the birthday party, commemorating the 34th birth date of the club.

Dr. Brittain reviewed the history of great world rulers and conquerors. The great lesson that came from the World War, he said, is the necessity for preparedness. Dr. Brittain was happy to be the host of a school where military tactics are taught.

While Dr. Brittain came to help the Woman's Club celebrate their birthday, he also has his own. The club president, Mrs. Hornady, invited him to remain for the birthday party in order that the members might in turn wish him a happy birthday which they did at the party which followed. All joined in singing "Happy Birthday to You."

Mrs. Mary Griffith Dobbs, chairman of music, presented Miss Margaret B. Battle in a program of patriotic music. The special numbers were "The American's Come," "The Trumpeter," "In Flanders Field," and "When the Boys Come Marching Home" with Misses Helen Battle, Mary Heisel, Margaret Battle and Mary Meisel of the Pericote Quartet with Miss Margaret Cooper and Miss Helen Battle at the piano.

Brief reports were read from chairman and announcement made of the Dorsey Whittington concert, Wednesday evening and the Floral tea Friday, which follows the lecture by Dr. E. K. Raleigh, of Chicago, at 3 o'clock, eminent authority on "Plant Life."

Birthday Party
Following the meeting the club members assembled in the banquet hall for the annual exercises, commemorating the 34th birth date of the club. A large embossed cake, upon which burned 34 white tapers was placed upon the beautifully decorated table.

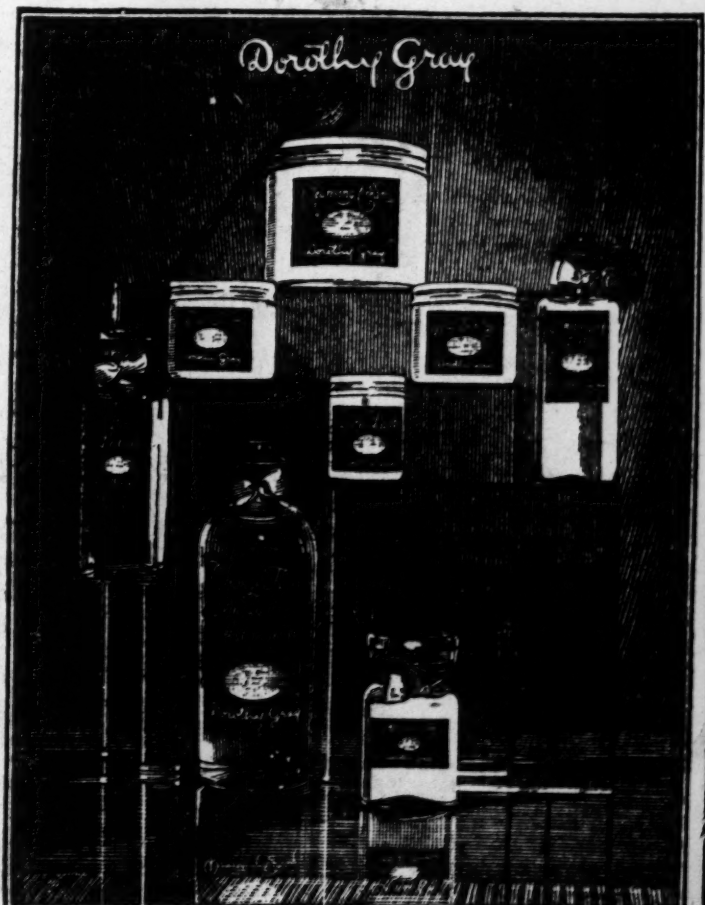

Mrs. John R. Hornady and the past presidents of the club present were honored guests. Mrs. Maude K. Jacobs and Mrs. George L. Brower, chairmen of arrangements, were assisted in entertaining by the following members of the house committee:

SOUTHEASTERN COUNCIL CONVENES AT ST. SIMONS ISLAND

Brunswick Club Hostess To Representative Clubwomen

BY BESSIE S. STAFFORD.

Editor of Woman's Department of The Constitution.

St. Simons Island, Ga., November 11.—Three days and two evenings will be crowded with addresses and allied events in the tenth annual conference of the Southeastern Council of General Federation of Women's Clubs at the Hotel Cloister, on St. Simons Island, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with Mrs. Flora Myers Gillentine, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., president of the organization, presiding. Brunswick Woman's Club, of which Mrs. C. B. Gowen is president, is hostess to the council, having extended invitation two years ago to convene here as a tribute to one of the most distinguished women in Georgia, Mrs. A. P. Brantley, of Blackshear, who was serving as president of Georgia Federation, and at present holds the high office of director for Georgia in General Federation. Mrs. Brantley resides in the eleventh congressional district, in which the council is to convene, and is one of the most prominent, forceful and notable women in the state, having been a leader and great factor in club, educational, social and religious work for many years. Another brilliant and important figure in this part of the state, and whose influence extends beyond the borders of the eleventh district, of which she is president, is Mrs. G. V. Cate, of Brunswick.

To Remedy Problems. The council, a body entirely without voting power, is called for the purpose of clearing up and offering a remedy for problems confronting clubwomen in the southeastern district, in order that presidents of state federations and directors thereof may go to public across the Gulf of Mexico. The activities of the council will interest thousands of state clubwomen, and those residing in other southern states, as the president and director of each federation will take the council message back to her respective organization.

The hostess club has planned a series of luncheons, oyster roasts, motor rides, teas and receptions, the first of these events taking form in the ride to Darien, Ga., to the Ridge, so as to view the ruins of the Spanish mission established in 1808, and on returning to St. Simons, clubwomen will alight from shining motors to sip a cup of tea at famous Teacup inn. Wednesday's luncheon at the Hotel Cloister, will have Mrs. W. D. Maginnis as toastmistress and that afternoon a ride around the island will provide entertainment for the visitors, followed by an oyster roast, at which negro chanteys will be sung. The coastal region of Georgia is very historical, and during the last five years it has been greatly beautified.

Presents Mrs. Gillentine.

Mrs. Brantley will present Mrs. Gillentine at the opening session Tuesday evening and Mrs. Cates gives the address of welcome, while Mrs. A. M. Land, president of North Carolina federation, responds for the council. Honorable N. Emmanuel, mayor of Brunswick; Mrs. A. H. Brenner, of Augusta, president of Georgia Federation, will extend greetings. Mrs. John K. Orliey, of Atlanta, will discuss "What Next," and Mrs. E. L. McKee, general federation chairman, will have as her subject "General Federation Fund." Other features of the program include an address by Mrs. S. V. Sanford, of Atlanta, first vice president of Georgia; "How a Club Can Be Its Community's Greatest Asset," Mrs. John C. Gilmore; "The Development of the Drama," Mrs. Clara Cox Epperson; "Beautifying Roadways," Mrs. W. L. Lawton, general federation chairman rural and highway advertising; "What Is Leadership?" Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, past director, General Federation of Women's Clubs. Round table discussions and a club potpourri led by Mrs. Henry S. Ely. The council program committee is composed of Mesdames G. V. Cate, Brunswick; R. K. Rambo, Atlanta; John G. Gilmore, Nashville, Tenn.; and C. B. Gowen, Brunswick. Among those appearing on the program besides clubwomen are: Hon. John Malings, of Chicago, who will speak on "The Principles of Americanism," Hon. Dan H. Wheeler, Washington, D. C., "Comprehensive Planning for Community Facilities," Dr. Henry Boswell, "What Price Tuberculosis."

Mrs. Gillentine is one of the most noted educators in the south and received her B. S. degree from Peabody college in 1919, her master's degree from Columbia university in 1926, and is now a candidate for the degree of doctor of philosophy from Peabody college. Governor Austin Peay appointed her a member of the Tennessee textbook commission, she being the second woman ever appointed to serve on the textbook commission of Tennessee. She is serving her state as vice president of the forestry association, and is a member of the Southern Association of Philosophy and Psychology and was invited to read a paper before that distinguished body at its annual meeting this year.

East Lake Club To Celebrate Thanksgiving at Dinner-Dance

Announcement of the Thanksgiving dinner-dance to be given Thursday evening, November 28, at the East Lake Country Club, will be received with interest by members and friends of the club.

Although Thanksgiving in the present day and time is indeed a far cry from the First Giving of Thanks in Puritan Days, this annual affair at East Lake is always greeted with enthusiasm. The Georgia Tech and Auburn football game, with its attendant out-of-town guests, and the many prominent visitors who are being entertained in Atlanta during the winter's brilliant social season, will aid in making this an especially gala occasion.

The interior of the attractive club house will be transformed into a veritable woods with its varicolored autumn leaves making a background for cornstalks and golden pumpkins. Favors and souvenirs will also reflect the holiday spirit and, on the menu, the piece de resistance will, of course, be the King of the Barnyard, "Mr. Gobbler."

Dancing will be enjoyed between the courses with music furnished by a popular local orchestra. As a limited number of reservations are available, those planning to attend are urged to make them early.

Campbell, Jeff Bush Head Long Tide of Crimson Tide Cripples

RAIN FORCES SQUAD INDOORS TO SKULL DRILL

Wade Begins Work for Tech Game—Team's Condition Bad.

University, Ala., November 11.—Alabama's annual drive on Georgia Tech began inconspicuously Monday in a drab, bleak corner of the university gymnasium, where Coach Wade conducted skill practice while torrents of rain fell outside.

A third of the Tide squad was in casts and bandages. Definite reports on the seriousness of the injuries await further examinations by the busy hospital corps. While physicians were busy thumbing over, taking X-ray photos, and listening to the lungs and hearts of heavily-taped and bandaged Tide men, rumors leaked out that Jeff Bush, valuable sophomore punter and passer and signal caller, is the most seriously injured of the lot. Bush was at first reported to have a badly broken shoulder. Examination has not yet revealed the fracture but the medicals say that the ligaments are very badly torn. Bush is not expected to start in the Tech game Saturday.

SPINNER HURT.

"Spinner" Campbell, Alabama's smart starting quarterback in the last two games, is in bad shape. He received a painful cut over the eye, and a recurrence of his leg injury in the fray with Kentucky last Saturday.

"Mel" Vines, veteran blocking back, is injured. Hugh Barr Miller, the sophomore drop-kicking star, is out of the game with a bum leg.

John Miller, guard, may come around for the Tech battle, but he showed a badly wounded head at Monday's skill practice. John was rained out of the game late when he became groggy and was lying up with Kentucky players. Several men were required to subdue him when he was taken to the dressing room.

HOLM IN SHAPE.

Tony Holm, Freddy Singleton and Jimmy Moore, a trio of Alabama stars of the first magnitude, should be in shape for the Tech fray, barring mishap during the intervening week of training. Singleton lost a front tooth in the Kentucky game Saturday. Holm and Moore came through without additional injuries. Although Holm went into the game with rib hurts.

The Tide uncovered a mighty fine field general Saturday when old Melvin Vines, a veteran of the great Tide which started the Pacific coast a few years back, was given a chance to run the team.

Fans who have seen Alabama lose two major grid battles by inches, with thousands of horsepower going to waste, have said that Alabama's great need was a field general of the type the old Tide had—the type Vines showed Saturday.

VETERAN VINES.

Vines was in the backfield when the Tide was one of the smoothest clicking teams in the nation. He knows all the old tricks and it would be a surprise to close observers of the Tide here to see Vines at the helm when the Tide men trot out on Tech field Saturday against the Yellow Jackets. The veteran was out a year

Ringleaders in Blood Battle Saturday

DICK ABERNATHY Vanderbilt

EUGENE McEVER—Tennessee—BUDDY HACKMAN

Vanderbilt meets Tennessee Saturday in Knoxville. The game will be a conference championship possibility as both teams are yet undefeated in the conference race. It will be one of the bloodiest battles ever fought in the Tennessee mountains. Above are some of the ringleaders. Brown and Abernathy form a considerable portion of Vandy's line, while McEver and Hackman are Tennessee's best backs.

Tulane Given Rest Monday

New Orleans, November 11.—Tulane's Green Wave was idle Monday following the 52 to 0 victory Saturday over Auburn. Coach Bernie Bierman will send the boys back to work tomorrow however with a stiff scrimmage. The team is in fine condition for the game against Sewanee this week.

Buys Players.

The Toronto Hockey Club known as the "Millionaires," has bought five players from the London Club.

because of injuries sustained in an affair off the gridiron, and had given way to the younger stars until Saturday, when he was one of the eight men called upon to run the Tide. His generalship started Alabama from behind on the road to two touchdowns. In just such a comeback as that which the Tide of '29 was famous.

Coach Wade will be all set, no doubt, to make as sensational a stand against the Techmen as in 1928, when he took a bunch of cripples to Atlanta, along with a new assortment of puzzling "spinners," and played the world's champions to a standstill until the closing minutes of the game.

N. Y. U. Quarterback Joins Injured List

New York, November 11.—(AP)—Another New York University quarterback, John "Jinx" O'Herin, joined the hospital ward today, along with Dave Myers, negro star.

O'Herin suffered a broken leg in the spectacular game with Georgia last Saturday and will be out for the rest of the season. O'Herin's injury left Coach Chic McLean without a capable kicker in the squad.

Charlie Marshall, McLean's first choice as a kicker, was badly hurt in the Georgetown game ten days ago. Al Gaudet, reserve back, or Victor Conner are expected to take the quarterback job for the Missouri game.

Boston College Is Home of Ends

Since the war Boston college always has had good ends. Luke Urban and Tony Comerford were the best, closely followed by Grat-tan, O'Connell, Harrison, Sullivan and Dower. And this year Boston college followers claim Dixon and Murphy are the best pair of all.

Display Grabs Pimlico Feature

New York, November 11.—(AP)—Display, the grand old horse of American turf, gave another exhibition of his iron will today when he won the Baltimore handicap at Pimlico for his second victory in four days.

The six-year-old son of Fair Play was never in better form than when he sped around the mile and 70 yards to defeat his stablemate, Dr. Freehand, and five other high-class runners including Misspep, the pride of the west, and the favorite, the victory netted W. J. Salmon $3,995 and placed Display well up among the leaders in total money won.

Running his same style of race, Display dropped back after getting away well, trailing Dr. Freehand by a length. At the far turn of the hilly course, however, the Salmon entry began to close in on the field. Dr. Freehand taking the inside and Display the overland route. At the three-sixteenths pole Display took the lead, closely followed by his stablemate and winner of the Preakness. All through the stretch both horses were running easily, Display winning by a length and a half while Dr. Freehand beat out Sun Edwin a head for the place. Display and Dr. Freehand were neglected in the betting, so said $10.80 to win, $10 to place and $7.40 to show, while the price on Sun Edwin to run third was $4.50.

As usual a heavy track prevailed at Latonia, where the Armistice purse was won by A. E. Canale's High Score, which was extended before defeating Retort by a neck. First Mission was third over the six-furlong sprint, which was covered in 1:21.

Infantry Wins From Navy, 19-0

Power cleverly mixed with smart running enabled the Infantry team of the battalion grid league at Georgia Tech to down the Navy squad on the Rose Bowl field Monday afternoon by a 19-to-0 score.

This Army-Navy fray rivaled its big brother of bygone days in thrills. Playing on a muddy field with a slippery ball, it was the driving charge of Hank Heeke which paved the way to the first Infantry score, after a recovered fumble had put the ball in Navy territory.

As the second half got under way the Infantry had begun a series of short passes which worked the ball to the second tally. Hall making a great catch of the final toss of the series. Later, running Heeke at the line until it seemed he was the only back on the team, English tried a quarterback sneak which caught the young Midship off guard and went 45 yards to the final marker.

The three backs were best for the Army squad, while Murray, at center, and Pippin, back, starred for the losers.

Cheer Leader Exiled, Team Keeps Winning

Chariton, Iowa, November 11.—(AP) Cheers or no cheers, the Chariton High school football team has hit a winning stride, taking its last game 13 to 0, without the services of Herbert Ordway, 17, its head cheer leader. Ordway was dismissed after he had made some derogatory remarks about a team that could win only two out of six games. Principal F. A. Lunan said a good cheer leader shouldn't do that and banished Ordway from his role.

Some 300 students objected, signed a petition for his return and said the team would have to go without their cheers unless Ordway was reinstated. The team gave the answer by its 13-to-0 win.

Ordway is still absent.

Unique Battle To Be Staged

A sack battle royal, exactly like the one that served as a preliminary for the Stribling-Sharkey fight at Miami Beach last February, will be a feature of the November 19 card in the Auditorium staged by Cleve Roby, he announced Monday night.

This particular event, involving a crowd of Senegambians, faces covered with croker sacks, and not even eyes cut through them, threw the monster crowd at the Palm city into convulsions and was one of the few attractions on me card that really held up as expected.

Roby intends to offer his exactly as the one at Miami Beach was staged. His main bait, as previously announced, will bring together for the second time Roy Dunn, of Atlanta, and California Joe Gans, the pair that put up a grueling battle of 15 rounds here a few weeks ago. This time they will step the 10-round distance.

Hard Scrimmage.

Los Angeles, November 11.—(United News.)—Coach Howard Jones today put his University of Southern California football team through its first hard scrimmage in a week, working against plays Notre Dame is expected to use when the two teams meet in Chicago Saturday.

The scrimmage was the first rough and ready one the Trojans have had since the game they lost to California, having idled prior to their 66-0 defeat of Nevada Saturday. After another heavy scrimmage Tuesday, the U. S. C. gridgers will leave for Chicago.

The former National Open champions are Johnny Farrell, of New York, 1928; Willie MacFarlane, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., 1925; Cyril Walker, of Paramus, N. Y., 1924; Jim Barnes, of Pelham, N. Y., 1921, and Freddy McLeod, Washington, 1908.

The tournament is a 36-hole event. Joe Turnesa, of Elmford, N. Y., and Henry Ched, of Mill River, won the event last year and have teamed together again this year.

Pittsburgh and Irish National Standouts

Notre Dame Seems Most Likely Contender for Country-Wide Grid Honors.

By Dixon Stewart, United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, November 11.—Football leaders in every section of the nation are definitely established as the 1929 season nears its close and two teams—Notre Dame and Pittsburgh—stand out above all others as claimants to national honors.

With the Saturday before Thanksgiving marking the end of the season for most of the major teams, a majority of the leaders face only two more games and in most instances appear strong enough to maintain their standings.

Only twelve teams—Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Purdue, Tennessee, Tulane, Cornell, Western Maryland, Ohio University, Spring Hill, Stetson, Texas Christian and Utah—remain in the national list of undefeated and untied teams. Of these Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Purdue, Tennessee and Tulane are the only ones playing schedules which entitle them to recognition for national championship honors.

Notre Dame, with victories over Indiana, Navy, Wisconsin, Carnegie Tech, Georgia Tech and Drake, and Pittsburgh, which has defeated Wisconsin, Duke, West Virginia, Nebraska, Allegheny, Ohio State and W. & J., are the outstanding contenders for the mythical national championship, with the Irishmen's more difficult schedule giving them a decided edge over the Panthers.

Unfortunately, the teams do not meet and the only basis for comparison between the two will be their scores against Carnegie Tech. Notre Dame defeated the Skibios, 7 to 0, and Pitt will have an opportunity to better that record Saturday when it plays Carnegie in the annual battle between the two Pittsburgh teams.

On their records to date the United States sectionals leaders are as follows:

SCHOOL	EAST	W.	L.	T.
Pittsburgh	7	0	0	0
Vanderbilt	6	1	0	0
California	6	0	1	0
Southern California	6	1	0	0
Texas Christian	7	0	0	0
Stetson	4	0	3	0
Missouri Valley	3	1	2	0
Nebraska	3	2	1	0

Pittsburgh appears certain to win the eastern championship, being scheduled to play Carnegie Tech and Penn State in the two remaining games. While Cornell plays Dartmouth and Penn. Pitt's play this season stamps it as superior to either of the contenders, and the Penn game may easily provide the litheans with a second defeat.

Notre Dame's 1929 team is rated equal, if not superior, to the "Four Horsemen" aggregation which won national championship honors in 1925. The Bears close their season in games with Washington and Stanford, both dangerous rivals. Southern California and Stanford each have one defeat on their record and have several hard games ahead, the Trojans meeting Notre Dame, Idaho, Washington and Carnegie Tech, and Stanford playing Santa Clara, California and the Army.

BIG TEST.

Purdue faces its big test of the season in entertaining Dartmouth Saturday at Lafayette. The Hawkeyes have established themselves as one of the most powerful clubs in the Big Ten conference and showed championship ability in whipping Minnesota last week.

Tulane's two remaining games, Sewanee and Louisiana State, are expected to provide easy victories. Tennessee is also undefeated, but must play Vanderbilt, Kentucky and South Carolina, with either of the first two likely to prove a stumbling block.

California is the only undefeated Pacific coast team, but its record is marred by a tie with St. Mary's. The Bears close their season in games with Washington and Stanford, both dangerous rivals. Southern California and Stanford each have one defeat on their record and have several hard games ahead, the Trojans meeting Notre Dame, Idaho, Washington and Carnegie Tech, and Stanford playing Santa Clara, California and the Army.

MUDDLED RACE.

The situation in the southwest remains badly muddled. Texas Christian is the only undefeated and untied team in the section and also heads the Southwest conference with two victories. Three other teams, Texas U. Southern Methodist and Baylor, are undefeated in the conference race, but have ties on their record. Of the four, Baylor is the only team which has been defeated this season, losing a non-conference game.

Nebraska and Kansas Aggies head the teams of the Missouri valley, and will play November 23 to decide Big Six conference honors. To date Nebraska is undefeated in the conference, but was tied by Missouri, while the Aggies' only conference setback has been a loss to Oklahoma.

Utah continues to dominate the Rocky Mountain district, having been undefeated since 1927. The Mormons have already clinched the Rocky Mountain conference championship and appear certain to finish the season undefeated.

Annual Mid-South Tourney Opens Today

Pinehurst, N. C., November 11.—(AP)—Ninety-four professional golfers, including five former National Open champions, were entered tonight in the tenth annual Mid-South Open best ball golf tournament which will be held tomorrow preliminary to the Mid-South Open tourney.

The five former National Open champions are Johnny Farrell, of New York, 1928; Willie MacFarlane, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., 1925; Cyril Walker, of Paramus, N. Y., 1924; Jim Barnes, of Pelham, N. Y., 1921, and Freddy McLeod, Washington, 1908.

GEORGIA TAKES LIGHT WORKOUT; INJURIES FEW

Bulldogs Settle Down to Work for Auburn Game Saturday.

Athens, Ga., November 11.—The Georgia Bulldogs arrived in Athens this morning from their game with New York University and this afternoon started practicing for the Georgia homecoming game with Auburn.

The football game will be played on Friday and will be a part of the program planned for the old Georgia students who will return to visit their Alma Mater.

The Bulldogs came back to Athens in good condition in spite of their 19 to 27 defeat. There are no serious injuries in the Bulldog camp as a result of the N. Y. U. game and only a few minor ones. And with the old injuries rapidly healing, the Red and Black players will go into the homecoming game in the best condition they have been in this season.

Austin Downes will be in playing condition if he is needed, but it is doubtful that the Georgia coaches will take the chance of having the little quarterback re-injured with the Alabama and Georgia Tech games yet to be played.

The Bulldogs took only a light workout this afternoon. After the lecture the players ran signals for 30 or 40 minutes before Coach Mehre started the Bulldogs to taking short wind sprints. The players went through the short practice in a driving rain and on a muddy field without showing the effect of the long trip or the strenuous game with the Violets.

Tommy Downes' players will have another light day with a big scrimmage coming Wednesday.

For years the annual game between Army and Navy has proved one of the football classics of the country and it was with a view of renewing these contests that Representative Edwards offered his measure of today.

The games have always been attended by high officials of the war and navy departments with a strong sprinkling of government officials and members of the house and senate.

Marsters Holds Scoring Honors

Although injuries have ended his football career, Al Marsters, Dartmouth quarterback, continues to lead the nation's players in individual scoring.

According to figures compiled by the Associated Press from the eight major groups or conferences in the country Marsters leads the procession with 108 points in six games. In second place with 91 is Gene McEver, of Tennessee, who sat in the grandstands while his team crushed Carson Newman, 73-0, on Saturday. McEver and other Tennessee regulars were kept out of that contest to insure their being in condition for the game with Vanderbilt on Saturday.

The leading scorer in each of the eight groups follows:

Section-Player-College	pts.	g.	td.	pts. per game
East, Marsters, Dartmouth	108	6	8	18
South, McEver, Tenn.	91	6	10	15
Pac. Schwartz, W. St.	72	6	0	12
Miller, Ark.	68	6	0	11
Mo. Val. King, Drake	68	6	0	11
Big 10, Phares, Minn.	68	6	0	11
Big 12, Fomberg, Utah	68	6	0	11
Big Six, Baugh, Kan.	64	6	0	10

The Yankees may get Goose Godin to replace Bob Meusel.

Lexington, Ky., November 11.—(United News.)—Kentucky athletic officials went to Springfield, Ky., today to be with John Simms "Shipwreck" Kelly, star halfback, whose grandmother, Mrs. Mary Prudence Simms, died Sunday. Mrs. Simms' illness prevented Kelly from playing in the Alabama game Saturday, when the Wildcats lost 24-13. Kelly announced his intention of playing with Kentucky Saturday against V. M. I. at Lexington, Va.

GARDEN BUYS
PUGS' SERVICESCorporation Gets Contract
Rights of Schmeling,
Scott and Campolo.

New York, November 11.—(AP)—Madison Square Garden has purchased from Humbert Pugay, promoter, the contract rights to the services of Max Schmeling of Germany; Phil Scott of England, and Victor Campolo of the Argentine, it was announced tonight.

The consideration was in the neighborhood of $75,000, it was understood in fiscal circles.

This deal, fruit of weeks of negotiations, gives the Garden a virtual monopoly on the heavyweights who are serious contenders for the crown vacated by Gene Tunney. The Garden already has Jack Sharkey, considered the leading contender, under contract for a fight at Miami this winter. Scott and Schmeling have been mentioned as the next best bets in a somewhat makeshift fight, Campolo, although beaten by Scott, won high praise from many boxing experts who believe that in time the huge South American will be a champion.

More important, in one way, was the fact that the deal apparently removes the last obstacle in the way of a Sharkey-Schmeling match. The Garden was threatened with suspension by the New York state athletic commission if it insisted upon match contracts for a fight at Miami this winter. With the deal now made, the boxing commission's objections should no longer exist.

Indications tonight were that the Garden would endeavor to match Schmeling and Sharkey for the Miami fight, probably in February.

Included in the deal was Gustavo Lueve's managerial contract. Campolo, now in South America, insisted that Lueve's contract must be relinquished before he would return to the United States. Pugay holds Campolo's signature to contracts for four matches. The Italian promoter also holds a contract on Schmeling to fight Scott and a similar one on Scott.

Langston Sinks
Morehouse, 34-0

Langston university completely crushed the Morehouse football team Monday afternoon by a one-sided score, 34-0. Morehouse fought hard, but with the loss of some of its best players in the game with Benedict, as unable to stop the rush line of the Oklahomans.

The game was slow, due to the rains which made the field a sea of mud. Many passes were intercepted throughout the game, with Langston turning them into touchdowns. The cross-country game of Oklahoma, eleven was a puzzle to the Atlantans and Crisp ran 20 yards on one of the plays for a touchdown.

The entire backfield of Langston was outstanding in this contest, and the line played well.

Jeffries, diminutive quarterback for Morehouse, bore the brunt of battle for the Atlantans. Edmund, sensational halfback of the Morehouse team, was held in check by the powerful line of the visitors.

BOB'S GOLF

"old timers," persisted until they made golf the greatest game in the world. "I remember," said Alex Pirie, "when we used to say that golf was a game that survived the ages. The press has helped the game and the men who teach it. All the world has come to a new understanding of the game."

KEELER SPEAKS.
O. B. Keeler, Atlanta Journal golf writer, and a well known figure at national tournaments, made an interesting talk, telling of his early golfing days, and of his growth into writing 30 years ago when the game was called an old man's game and was the subject of disparaging jokes on the stage. "I have seen it grow where it is today," said Keeler, "and I consider the professional teachers of the game to be responsible for the healthy and constructive growth it has achieved. I believe the P. G. A. to be composed of the finest men in any organization I have ever known."

It was announced that a senior professional golf association had been formed at Chicago and New York. The two branches have not yet affiliated. The Chicago branch requires 20 years of service as a Class A professional for membership and the New York branch 25 years. They plan an affiliation in the future.

Atlanta hopes to obtain the P. G. A. championship at some future date. The tournament will come before the meeting today but there is little likelihood that it will be decided. The usual course is to refer it to the executive committee.

THE OFFICERS.

Election of officers will be on the schedule today. The present officers are Alex Pirie, Old Elm Club, Chicago, president; Willie Ogg, Worcester, W. H. Way, Cleveland; Pat Patterson, Los Angeles, and Jack Mackie, New Jersey. They were present last night as were the following delegates: John Inglis and John Stevens, New York; Lou Goldberg and Charles Snyder, Philadelphia; Joe Dahman, Chicago; Jack Sherry, Salem, Ore.; Jones, Providence; Willie Dick, Louisville, Ky.; Greenboro, Arnold Miers, Nashville; Charles Hall, Birmingham; Howard Beckett, Atlanta; R. W. Truett, Wisconsin; Dave McKay and Fred Brand, Pittsburgh; Charles Lormes, James Carberry and Jack Patterson, Chicago; Joe Mathews, Kansas City; Jack Gordon, Buffalo; Joe Danney and B. Pauke, Michigan; and Jack Martin, representing the Pacific northwest.

Big Boys.

Hilltop Harper of the University of North Carolina football squad, stands 6 feet 7 inches and weighs 214 pounds, while Fenton Adkins, 6 feet 8 inches, weighs 280 pounds. Both are taller than either of these men is Bill Collins, brother of Chuck Collins, head coach. Bill is but a freshman, however, and can't line up with Harper and Adkins until next year.

THE PRINCETON LIGHT
PORTFOLIO
Grantland Rice
The Tiger's Last Stand.

Princeton's Tiger, at bay in the jungle with a body replete with hostile spears, is now in the most desperate situation of his career. With only one victory since the first game of the season, the Bengal entry now faces the job of retrieving an almost hopeless season by beating a Yale team that has looked to be at least two touchdowns stronger, and that is putting it as gently as one can.

Princeton could bounce back upon the map again—not to any high rating, but at least to a respectable spot—by smashing a Yale team that has whipped Brown, Army and Dartmouth.

Everything in this game is on the side of the Blue—except psychology. And all the psychology of contest is on the side of the Tiger. He has everything to gain, and nothing whatever to lose. He could even lose by a fairly close score and look better than he is today. Yale may have a good record to protect—Princeton hasn't. If Princeton loses—well, who expects her to win?

Yale against Dartmouth was at least three or four touchdowns better than Princeton. But football situations can change rapidly—and a state of mind can mean a lot. Harvard now looks to be the main obstacle in Yale's path, and it is difficult for any coach to key a team up that is bound to look for a rather easy path. If Princeton, after trying the Navy in a last-minute rally, had come along to beat Chicago, the situation would be different. But after this Navy rally the Tiger flopped back without a claw to show.

Yale can now pick up no credit at all for beating a team that Brown, Cornell and Chicago have already whipped. Princeton can amass almost enough credit to call it a fair season by beating Yale. Princeton is bound to have all the better of mental attitudes when the two teams meet—and mental attitudes have won and lost a flock of football games.

As the two teams have played this season, Yale has far the better line, the better ends and the better backfields, with Booth outstanding. Yet an around, desperate team, able to get the breaks, can beat a better team—a much better team—that isn't lifted to the same pitch.

No one knows this better than the Yale coaches—better than Bill Roper, who can be counted on to marshal every resource he has on the psychological side to put over what would be the season's largest upset.

Cornell and Columbia.

These two rivals who fought a duel to a hair's breadth are face to face with hard going on Saturday. Cornell must step out against Dartmouth, one of the best teams in the country when Marsters is working, and Columbia has a first-class Pennsylvania team to meet. Columbia can also retrieve more than a small bit by beating the Penn team that held California to the margin of a winning touchdown—a Penn team that beat the Navy.

This game will bring two fine backs together in Masters and Hewitt. Columbia will find Masters one of the best all-around backs any team has faced this season, a football player who isn't as flashy as Booth or Marsters, but a football player who can do everything well, extremely well.

Both Cornell and Columbia have proved themselves to be hustling, hard-scrapping outfits, but they have a great back to handle in Marsters, who belongs to the top five or six in football.

Leading Backs.

Picking the best three or four backs this season will be no simple undertaking. Not with Booth, Marsters, Cagle, Lom, Masters, Carriedo, Uansa, Brazil, McEvey, Parkinson and several others all scrambling along the turf.

There are big games yet to be played that will help to unravel the tangle. The quality and quantity of the schedule to be faced has to face the fire in four or five tough games in a row, with no chance to rest and nurse his bruises, is working against heavy odds.

There are certain types of smashing teams that can take the starch out of any rival for a week or so, even though beaten. They are all shooting at the stars—and they don't always treat them any too gently when they get the chance to land.

Stallion Wins
703rd Ribbon

New York, November 11.—(AP)—Giving a wonderful exhibition of jumping, Montreal, veteran jumper of the Canadian army team, tonight staved off the challenge of the best thoroughbreds from five nations to win the international military stake at the national horse show.

But it was not without a struggle that Montreal earned the coveted trophy. Twice he was brought back into the arena to battle off the challenge of representatives of the United States army, which had turned out a perfect performance to tie the Canadian fencer. Each time, however, Lieutenant C. C. Mann sent his mount over the obstacles in a matter of seconds.

The first attempt of the 30 entries over the jumps saw the Canadian fencer tied with Dick Waring, ridden by Major Harry D. Chamberlain, commander of Uncle Sam's army entry, and Muskegoe, also bearing the colors of the United States army and ridden by Lieutenant Thompson. The trio turned in a perfect performance. In the first jump off, however, Muskegoe faltered at the stone wall and one gate while the other two scored almost as good a performance as in their first trial. Called back to the arena for the final trial, Montreal again turned in a consistent performance to lead the American horse.

St. Mesrobo, a 35-year-old stallion, pranced into the tank arena at the performance and amid thunderous applause made his exit, the possessor of his 703rd blue ribbon title. The horse is rated as the world's most noted trotting bred roadster champion.

For 30 years St. Mesrobo has been appearing in every prominent equine show from coast to coast and from Canada to Texas, winning championships with regularity. During the decade he has carried off 703 blue and championship ribbons, three stakes of $2,000, three of $1,500, 45 of $1,000 and 32 of $500.

The game, played before a record crowd of 6,000 persons, was hard-fought throughout, with honors about evenly divided.

Teams.

Auburn, Ala., November 11.—(AP)—The count with Georgia freshman teams for the 1929 season was ended by Coach Earl McRaden's rat team Armistice Day when they partly avenged the defeat handed them by the Georgia Bulldogs by licking the Tech frosh, 7-0.

The game was played on a muddy field and a steady rain marred the play of both teams.

Auburn was minus the services of two of her best ball carriers, Jimmie Hitchcock, halfback, and Ike Parker, quarterback, but easily outplayed the Baby Engineers. Fifty-two regulars were out of the game due to injuries sustained in scrimmages last week.

The first half ended in a scoreless deadlock with neither team showing much advantage over the other. Tom Brown's 18-yard run, and William Bassett's 15-yard jaunt off tackle were the longest runs of the half. Auburn advanced the ball to Tech's 20-yard line but an offside penalty halted the drive.

The third period was featured by Auburn's steady march down the field that was not stopped until Bassett had scored the final white stripe for the winning touchdown. Tech's defense was unable to stop the drive. Bassett was carrying the slippery pigskin over the goal line. Tom Shackelford and Henry Money for the extra point.

With only five minutes to go, Kid Clay's eleven forced to the air and Auburn's defense was able to keep the ball where they lost it on downs when Bassett and Brown broke up the third aerial heave. Auburn had just come out of the huddle when the game ended.

Seven line-men and four ball carriers were the stars for Auburn. The line-men were opening up holes with their backs and they took advantage of them.

Corn, Neblett, Pascoe and Davis starred for the losers in their line. Tech's defense was able to keep the ball where they lost it on downs when Bassett and Brown broke up the third aerial heave. Auburn had just come out of the huddle when the game ended.

LOBBY PROBE REPORT
ATTACKS BURGESSFormer Commissioner Severely Censured in Report
Read to Senate.

Washington, November 11.—(AP)—Submitting its second report to the senate lobby committee today, the committee charged William C. Burgess, former member of the tariff commission, for his activities during consideration of the pending tariff legislation.

After the report was read, Chairman Caraway of the committee told the senate that Burgess, now employed by the United States Pottery Association, was "a paid lobbyist" who "had no regard whatever for his own reputation, no hesitancy in committing perjury," and "was perfectly willing to slander members of the senate."

The report, which consisted principally of a review of Burgess' testimony before the lobby committee, asserted his actions in attempting to have Frederick L. Koch of the tariff commission disciplined amounted "approximately to contempt of the senate, if they do not constitute such."

Caraway announced later that no further action against Burgess was contemplated by the committee and no recommendations were made in the report.

Charges Denied.
All the charges contained in the report were denied by Burgess in New Jersey. He said they were "absolutely false statements made in order to blacken my character and in an effort to stop the efforts of American manufacturers in getting their rights."

Burgess is coming to the capital to attempt to have the report refuted on the senate floor.

In the first report to the senate by the lobby committee, which dealt with the employment by Senator Bingham, republican, Conn., of Charles L. Eyanon, of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association, to aid the senator in tariff matters, no recommendations were made but the senate later voted condemnation of the Connecticut senator for placing Eyanon on the senate roll while he was drawing $10,000 a year from his association.

Caraway asserted that Burgess went before the tariff commission and demanded that Koch be removed from his position as chief of the ceramics division of the commission on the ground that he had shown partiality in favor of importers of pottery while attending hearings on the tariff bill before house and senate committees.

The report said Koch was charged with "friendly intimacy with the manager of a Japanese importing firm" and that he had repeatedly "promised" to "bring King, a member of the senate finance committee, known to be opposed to high duties, to ask questions of witnesses testifying in behalf of such items in the tariff schedule."

Burgess denied seeking the dismissal of Koch, but added that Chairman Marvin of the tariff commission said there was no occasion for him to be there and that was the only impression which had been created upon his mind as to the occasion of the saying.

"Burgess, under oath, swore that at least three members of the senate finance committee had joined with him in convincing Koch to resign," the chairman continued. "He went so far as to quote two of them in their express disapproval. Each one of them has taken occasion to refute that statement by the saying of Mr. Koch on the floor of the senate."

The senate was told by Caraway that Burgess testified before the finance committee that he represented no person and was speaking merely "as one of a group of people who sought protection for his own industry."

Before the lobby committee, Caraway continued, Burgess "reluctantly admitted" that he was employed by the pottery association at a salary of $5,000 a year and also was employed by other associations and manufacturers. Caraway estimated his income at "certainly close to $20,000 a year."

STATUE TO MAURY,
SEAS PATHFINDER,
UNVEILED BY BYRD

Richmond, Va., November 11.—(AP)—Impressive military and civilian exercises, attended by Assistant Secretary of Navy Ernest Lee Jabneke, Governor Harry Byrd and other notables, marked the unveiling here today of the monument to Commodore Matthew Fontaine Maury, "pathfinder of the seas."

The monument, depicting Maury in a sitting position, was unveiled by Miss Mary Maury Fitzgerald, of Richmond, and Matthew Fontaine Maury, great-grandchildren of the charter of the seas. The monument is the work of F. V. Sievers.

In delivering the principal address of the occasion, Governor Byrd said that no American, prior to the time Woodrow Wilson sponsored the birth of the League of Nations, had received the recognition of the great powers as had Maury.

"THE FOUR FEATHERS" starring Richard Arlen, Clive Brook, William Powell and Fay Wray. "His Wife's Birthday." "The Four Feathers" is a story of hard-fisted adventure, is aptly chosen for Armistice week.

"The Four Feathers"—symbols of cowardice from which the picture takes its name—portray the struggle of an English army officer to regain his honor, lost in resigning his commission to escape war service.

The setting is against the Egyptian Soudan, in the late sixties. The Fuzzy-Wuzzies, of whom Kipling wrote, are there in force. In the scenes of native warfare something of why he called them "darn good fighting men" is revealed.

The best shot of the picture is of stampeding hippopotami, plunging into a river ahead of a forest fire; and the next best is the pathos of a monkey tugging at the clothing of his small native master, who is dead, to awaken him.

Essentially "The Four Feathers" is a man's picture, red-blooded and virile. The love motif, which is only incidental, is restrained to a few short scenes. It is a good picture, check full of dramatic melodrama if you prefer.

Richard Arlen takes the lead, with splendid support by Clive Brook and William Powell. There is little to choose between their acting, and Wray is on the screen for only a few minutes.

The comedy, "His Wife's Birthday," sparkles with humor. Its Yiddish dialect and dialogue are as good as Milt Gross ever wrote.

Housebroken

BY PAUL HERVEY FOX

SYNOPSIS.
Tom Davis, football star of a small eastern college, plays brilliantly in his last game. After the battle Bruce Stevens, his roommate, asks him to go to the dance that night to escort a girl who'd been asked down to the college for him. Bruce explains that he wishes to avoid meeting one of the chaperones. Tom agrees to substitute for him. The girl, Suzanne Branch, makes an instantaneous appeal to him. She tells Tom that she is engaged to marry a friend of her father's. After she leaves Tom writes to her. Before the Christmas holidays Tom meets Suzanne in New York. Suzanne breaks her engagement to the other man when she and Tom realize they love each other and Suzanne invites Tom to her home to meet her family. Suzanne goes down to the college for commencement.
After graduation Tom's father gives him a small house at Stamford as a wedding present.
Suzanne and Tom are married in November and for the first few months are perfectly happy. One day Tom stays in town to have dinner with some college friends and on his return Suzanne upbraids him.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

A TEMPTATION.

Useless to go into further harrowing details; it was a scene of scenes and it left Tom bewildered, almost stunned. It was hours before he could quiet Suzanne, hours before, soothed and remorseful, she did cry softly in his arms, beg him to forgive her, because she loved him so.

That was a flattering explanation, but as Tom lay awake by her side he reflected that he had given her his promise not to play poker again.

For a month life went so smoothly that when he looked back upon that idiotic and distressing night he was inclined to believe it hadn't really happened.

But, thinking things over, a faint obstinacy came to the surface of his mind. He had a feeling of having been beaten. An occasional evening of poker would have been good fun.

Still he took to dropping into the club now and then. Some days he would be out of the office by 4 or 4:30 and, then he would wait till 5:30 before going into the country.

He was naturally good at all games and liked them. It amused him to take up a billiard cue one afternoon. From that day he became a devotee, perfecting his shots, studying practiced players.

He began to give an hour a day to the game, to look forward to it, without alighting his work. Gradually he came up his mind to the first time he recognized that marriage had in some way curtailed his liberties; he was about to ask permission.

He grew a little angry, he said, thought that. He told Suzanne bluntly that on Wednesday evenings after this he would dine at the club and take the 9:30 train home.

His voice was just bellicent enough. He waited for an outburst which did not come. She bit her lips and said nothing.

For three Wednesdays he stayed in town and arrived home well before 11. He began to think he had been too hard on Suzanne. She merely needed a firm hand. And he thought of her with renewed tenderness and delight.

Then one evening when he came home and she met him at the station, she smiled mysteriously. When he entered the house he found a birthday cake with lighted candles. It was his birthday and she had remembered, though it was months ago that he had told her!

"And now I've got something to show you," she said. She led him down to the cellar, her hand over his eyes. When she took it away and he accustomed himself to the light, he saw he was looking at the green cloth of a home billiard table.

He was too thunderstruck to speak. It came over him that it must have taken all her tiny savings, as well as a recent gift from an affluent but somewhat stingy aunt to purchase this.

"You see, dearest," she said, "I thought, since you liked billiards so much, you'd rather have this than anything else. And now I can play with you. We can play every evening."

He did not know what to say, indeed. How could he explain to her the tangled and confusing desires that were mingled in his wish to play at the club? How could he tell her that the odor of masculinity, of oaths and cigar smoke, and the short, contemptuous sarcasms with which men hold intercourse and retain their self-respect was like a chemical element that he craved?

And she was looking at him so wistfully, so anxious to see the pleasure come into his eyes! He couldn't be ungallant at a time like this. He lied, and kissed her, and told her how happy she had made him.

He struggled with her for a whole week in the effort to teach her the game. He would find her, her pretty head with its brown curls and soft eyes, watching him instead of the game. Or suddenly she would become lost in thought and, holding her cue, have to be recalled to the fact that it was her shot.

Gradually he gave up trying. When the table developed a villainous slant he no longer went near it. Only somehow the gift had effectually destroyed further visits to the club. He came home on Wednesday evenings now.

It was about this time that he had his first intelligible letter from Bruce Stevens. It pictured a life so fantastic it was hard to grasp.

"I am now going down the Irrawaddy," Bruce wrote in his sprawling hand. "We are in a funny looking boat that will probably swamp. The heat is the devil and I am bitter with guinea and flies. One of the natives fell overboard yesterday and a crocodile got him in one sweet crunch."

"We are on a treasure hunt, as a matter of fact. A crazy rich man financed it, but every one on the expedition is a crook. They probably all have run away from crimes and they don't believe in any treasure. All they want is a stake."

"I drifted out of China, as I wrote you in my last letter, after General Liang Li Fong fired me off his staff for inefficiency and drinking too much rice wine."

"By the way, you have nothing on me. I was married with full tribal rites to a native wife last month. I don't know where Mrs. Stevens is at present, however; as I say, that was a month ago."

Tom read the letter with bulging eyes. Suddenly it dawned on him that if he had gone away with Bruce these experiences might have been his, too. The world he lived in seemed curiously flat, the stale joys and adventures of commuters pitifully small.

He showed the letter to Suzanne. She was interested and read it carefully through.

"He does have a good time!" she said. "He does everything he wants, doesn't he?"

Tom did not answer. The contrast was personal and painful.

And now this evening, as he rode homewards in the familiar train, he was frowning over a new problem. This afternoon Joe Galbraith had come into the office and told him not to miss the heavyweight bout tonight. He was going and Jerry Collins from the office, and another fellow.

It was a temptation. He had not stayed in town for a long time. Tom finally compromised.

"I'll go home and dine," he said, "and then I'll join you fellows later."

"What! Go all the way home and come back again?"

"Well, Suzanne is expecting me, you see."

"Call her up."

"She's gotten dinner ready. I'll jump back on the next train. Just tell me where to meet you."

He broached the subject the moment he got off the train. Suzanne's lips tightened. She made no comment. But after he had dined he felt a certain constraint in the air.

"Are you really going?" she asked. Tom lost his temper. He swore. "Are you trying to cut me out of everything? Can't you stand one evening by yourself? Can't you take the car and run over and see Kathleen Mohr?"

Her lip trembled. She got up from the table and ran upstairs.
